DUTCH CHILD HOSTAGES FREED

Half Of 105 Ill With Virus

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer
ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — Four days of doubt and fear ended for 105 Dutch children and their parents early today when armed Asian extremists released all of the students — half of them ill with a stomach virus — and one teacher from a village schoolhouse.

At least 55 hostages remained the captives of a separate band of South Moluccan terrorists on a train 15 miles north of the school.
Police said three teachers and the principal remained captive in the school at Bovensmilde, a farming village in northern Holland. Authorities had said six adults were being held but the freed teacher said only himself and four others were in the crowded school.

More than 50 of the children, aged 8 to 12, were suffering from a virus infection which swept through the students crowded together in the one-story elementary school, officials said.

The ailing children were taken by ambulances to a hospital in nearby Assen, where 26 were admitted. Their conditions were not known.

The ailing children were taken by ambulances to a hospital where 26 were admitted. The hospital would not disclose the children's conditions, but unconfirmed reports said they were "reasonably well."

Asked if any of the children were in danger, a spokesman for the Dutch Justice Ministry said, "Oh, no, no, no."

The illness was understood to have caused vomiting and diarrhea. Red Cross officials told parents to give the children hot baths and send them to bed. The children were told not to eat or drink too much at first.

One of the freed children said in a Dutch radio interview that she and her classmates played games and watched television coverage of the siege during their four days in captivity.

"We weren't allowed to move around," said the child, a girl about 9 or 10 years old who did not identify herself. "The only time we could get up was when we wanted to go to the toilet."

She said they were not mistreated by the Moluccans. "They didn't threaten us at all, but we were all very scared," the girl said. "The Moluccans were quite nice, really. At night they asked us whether we had enough blankets and told us we could get more if we wanted them."

Dutch Justice Ministry spokesman, Wim van Leeuwen, said the six Moluccan terrorists at the school apparently decided to let the children go as one after another fell ill.

"They're going to be all right," said van Leeuwen.

In The Hague, Premier Joop den Uyl told reporters the government was encouraged by the developments and would work on "patiently" to win the freedom of all the hostages.

Queen Juliana today suspended efforts to form a new Dutch government until the sieges in northern Holland were over. Den Uyl's Labor party emerged as the big winner in Wednesday's elections but needs coalition partners.

Justice Minister Andreas van Agt said in a radio broadcast, "Things threatened to go wrong for a moment, but now they (the children) are all out of the school building."

He apparently referred to a terrorist complaint at one point that the operation was not moving fast enough. The government had refused to begin serious negotiations unless the

Young Stuns Yanks, Europeans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fiery U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young is back in Washington after a trip through Europe and Africa that left the State Department stunned, the Swedes irate, the British chastized and the president of the New York borough of Queens incredulous.

But President Carter was still on Young's side.

In a nationally televised news conference Thursday, Carter said he knew of "no instance that Andy Young has violated" administration policy.

The black ambassador stepped into new controversy while talking with reporters Wednesday en route to London from his official travels in Africa.

"The Russians, he said, are 'the worst racists in the world.'"

—He got Sweden and the New York borough of Queens with the same breath. The Swedes, he said, are "terrible racists" and "When the crunch comes, the black in Sweden is treated just like the black in Queens."

—He declared Britain's "old colonial mentality" is still "very strong."

—And, finally, he jolted the State Department on Thursday

by saying in London and later in Washington that he really wasn't all that concerned about Cuban advisers in Ethiopia, even though the State Department was calling it a matter of "grave concern."

When first asked about reports that 50 Cuban advisers were in Ethiopia, Young made the Cuban advisers could be a "serious development," a spokesman Thursday refused to admit Young's statement deviated from the department stance.

"I'm not prepared to say there is a basic disagreement between what he said and what I said yesterday," department spokesman Hodding Carter responded when asked to comment.

Arriving at Andrews Air Force Base, Young coolly rebuffed suggestions that his sometimes-controversial remarks were bringing him criticism.

"I haven't had any criticism,"

Is 'Baby Face' Winning Tune?

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Jimmy Carter might want to make "Baby Face" his next campaign song. A Michigan State University psychologist credits what he calls Carter's baby-like facial features for much of the President's popularity. Hiram Fitzgerald, who has done research on babies' faces and why they are so appealing to adults, says the President's large eyes, wide, round face and high forehead strike responsive chords with the public.

"These are some of the same features contributing to an adult's perception of cuteness in a baby," Fitzgerald says. "We and others have found that facial features in children have a lot to do with the way adults feel about a particular child and facial features will also affect the way adults behave toward children." Carter's ability to maintain direct eye contact also is a favorable trait, Fitzgerald says. Studies show children who look adults right in the eye usually get more positive reactions than children who fail to maintain eye contact, the MSU professor explains.

The President's famous smile is another strong point. "People really do like to see a smiling face," Fitzgerald said. "Children who smile a lot seem to produce much more positive reaction from adults than children who do not smile."

Angola Coup Is Crushed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Marxist government of Angolan President Agostinho Neto apparently put down a revolt today by extreme leftists as shooting and explosions were heard in the capital of Luanda.

Radio Luanda said "the rebellion has been crushed" just before Neto, whose Soviet and Cuban-backed Popular Movement took over Angola in the 1975 civil war, began a speech to his Central African nation.

A Luanda-based correspondent for the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug quoted one of the 10,000-15,000 Cuban troops stationed in Angola as saying, "the reaction has been overcome, what else."

The correspondent said the city was virtually deserted except for truckloads of soldiers in full combat dress. Cuban troops were checking identification papers.

Truckloads of heavily armed troops were seen rushing toward the presidential palace.

According to Tanjug, the revolt appeared led by supporters of former Interior Minister Nito Alves, purged last Saturday for opposing Neto's plans to withdraw the Cubans, encourage Western investments and restore ties with Portugal, the former colonial power.

Soon after the shooting started about 3 a.m., the leftist broadcast an appeal over Radio Luanda for the release of Alves and another radical, Jose van Dunem, the agency reported.

The radio also claimed that right-wingers in the Popular Movement had "organized oppression of the true Marxist-Leninists and the masses," Tanjug said.

A few hours later, the radio was back in the hands of Neto's supporters, and by 8:30 a.m. local time most of the shooting had stopped.

Neto reportedly wants to lure Portuguese and other Westerners back to Angola to buttress the nation's economy and ease its reliance on the Cubans. Alves has called for exclusive ties with the Soviet Union, Cuba and Third World radicals.

Observers inside Angola believe the split also reflects racial rivalries. Alves and other blacks oppose what they consider the excessive influence of mulattos, such as Neto, in the Popular Movement leadership.

an effort to espouse the State Department position, but it didn't end there.

"The State Department has expressed grave concern about that and I guess that's what I should do, too," the ambassador replied.

Then he admitted he wasn't really all that gravely concerned. "No ... because they're killing people right and left (in Ethiopia). I guess I think maybe the Cubans might be a little more rational than Ethiopians at this point."

"We ought not just be afraid of Cubans," Young said. The statement recalled his earlier controversial contention that the Cubans had brought stability to Angola at a time when several native factions vied for control after that country's independence from Portugal.

BH Depends On St. Joe For Water During Repair

Benton Harbor was forced to draw its water supply from St. Joseph over night when a broken valve shut down the city's pumping station.

Customers in a small area on the north side of the city and the Higman Park area in Benton township were without water for about two hours last night, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr., but water service was not interrupted for any other portion of the city. Farmer said this morning that the broken valve on a 12-inch water line at the water plant is expected to be repaired by about noon today.

The break in the water valve was discovered at about 5 p.m. yesterday, Farmer said, and the city was forced to shut the entire plant down at about 7:30 p.m. to attempt to repair the valve. The city switched over to water pumped from the St. Joseph water plant at that time to continue water service to Benton Harbor water plant customers.

Both Benton Harbor and St. Joseph water plant customers were using water pumped from the St. Joseph water plant throughout the night and Farmer last night went on radio stations asking water customers to conserve water. The water conservation will no longer be necessary after the valve is repaired, Farmer said.

Henry Viscuso, superintendent of the St. Joseph water department said both St. Joseph and Benton Harbor water plants have the capability to pump enough water for both systems under normal conditions and said there was no drop in water pressure over night. The water systems are interconnected for such emergencies.

Farmer said workmen at the Benton Harbor water plant were running water pumps this morning to build water pressure back up so water service at the plant can be resumed this afternoon.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

It Makes A Difference Who In Carter's Entourage Is Talking

Along the campaign trail and since taking office, Jimmy Carter has said repeatedly he would consciously avoid picking the yes man type of subordinate; that the government needs all of the competent administrative talent it can find and this of necessity requires seeking out a person who says what is on his mind.

The reference was an obvious dig at the inner circle of White House staff members who helped to put Richard Nixon in hot water and to a few nonentities surrounding Jerry Ford.

Carter very carefully refrained from telling his audiences there would be a limit to this promised freedom of expression.

The very nature of the Presidency demands a minimum amount of conformity to what the nation's Chief Executive feels should be done; and the political disasters piling up from everyone talking at cross purposes cannot be overlooked if the President, as an elected official, is to be reasonably effective.

What Carter intended is the ideal middle ground of being advised behind closed doors and then publicly supported once the doors have been thrown open.

This explains why he has all but cashiered Maj. Gen. Hohn K. Singlaub and allows Andrew Young, our ambassador to the UN, to wallow at will in the foot in mouth disease.

General Singlaub is waiting reassignment to some other spot in the Army because Carter removed him as chief of staff of some 50,000 American ground troops in South Korea.

Following a White House announcement last week that those troops will be withdrawn over a four or five year period, a Washington Post reporter buttonholed Singlaub for his opinion of the plan.

Apparently under the naivette that his remarks would not go beyond the conversational level, Singlaub quite bluntly replied the decision had been reached without the White House or the Defense Department making on the spot appraisal of the comparative military strength between the South Koreans and the North Koreans; and that the American withdrawal would be the invitation desired by the North Koreans to stage a second invasion of their neighbors.

Had he said there is no purpose in using American manpower to sustain a corrupt South Korean regime, which is gospel to the doctrinal liberals infesting Washington, Singlaub might have been promoted to lieutenant general.

Instead his future in the Army may be headed into a blind alley.

Carter quickly whistled up Harold Brown, the Defense Secretary, to give a poker faced interview that withdrawing the ground forces presents no hazard because the U.S. is morally committed to preserving the peace along the 38th parallel and will keep sufficient air and naval units at hand to discourage any thoughts among the North Koreans to jump the border.

The Navy and the Air Force did not keep the Red Chinese from nearly running the Army and Marines out of Korea 27 years ago, and unless Jimmy is willing to drop a few atom bombs on the North Koreans, the Air Force and Navy by themselves cannot stop a determined ground assault.

Carter, in effect, is gambling that the North Koreans will abide by the 1953 armistice.

Singlaub falls victim to the political dictum that the military must be responsive to civilian control even though the civilian judgment as expressed by its commander in chief, the President, is of the three dollar bill variety.

Contrasted with the luckless Singlaub, Ambassador Young enjoys a free rein to roam the world, Africa in particular, stating that discrimination is the root cause of international differences and unrest; and that Uncle Sam as a long standing participant in discrimination bears a large share of the blame for which he is now determined to make amends by creating civil liberties around the globe.

Thus far this buffoonery has not impressed the Russians, the Red Chinese and other Communist ruled nations.

While Carter declares Young may well become the man of this century in Africa, not every African leader regards the Ambassador as a Second Messiah.

Singlaub has been removed from this crazy quilt orchestration for telling it like it is.

Young is playing first violin because Carter is convinced he can sell outsiders just as he did Americans last November.

Sudanese President Tells It Like It Is

In ordering the expulsion of Soviet military personnel from his country, Sudanese President Jaafar Numeiry has become the latest of the more moderate African leaders to publicly recognize the Soviet presence in their continent for what it is.

At a news conference, Numeiry said the Soviet Union is guilty of subversion throughout Africa and has come close to turning neighboring Ethiopia and Libya into Soviet satellites. Ethiopia, he said, "has fallen completely under the tutelage of the strategic designs of Moscow."

Citing the huge stockpiles of Soviet weapons in Libya, Numeiry said that country has been all but turned into a Soviet colony. The Sudanese chief called upon all moderate factions in Africa to join together to combat the Soviet threat.

Numeiry thus joins Egypt's Sadat in recognizing the Soviet threat to their continent and demonstrating their awareness by expelling Soviet technicians who had been in their countries for extended periods. But the active Soviet presence now has spread to at least a half dozen other African states. A few of them — like Angola — have become active threats to their neighbors. Others are festering sores which threaten to erupt at any time.

Gathering the moderate forces against this invasion is not premature.

Jackson Inmate Declares No New Prisons Needed

Editor,

After reading the political and Department of Corrections views of the overcrowding in the prisons, I feel that in fairness to the taxpayers of this state, that another true side of the story should be presented. So I offer this to you, because the people should know there are other alternatives open to them besides an increase in an already overbearing tax burden.

I am currently incarcerated at the State Prison of Southern Michigan, at Jackson. I have first-hand knowledge of the situation here.

Various articles in newspaper accounts place the overcrowding at 1500 to 2000 prisoners. It is a known fact that the Department of Corrections i.e. the Parole Board, has a current policy of holding prisoners beyond their minimum release dates, thus causing the severe overcrowding. As an example, I am a first-time felony offender. Having only one felony conviction in my life, with no juvenile record, I have a wife and children whom I love very much and we keep a very close relationship. My earning potential when released is excellent. My crime was one of circumstances, and would never occur again. Since being in prison, I have maintained an excellent record, and followed all criteria set down to me. I have been in-concerned can obtain more facilities and monies which they don't really need. It is very probable that over half the number of overcrowding could be eliminated at Jackson alone, if they would merely release those who are eligible. This also applies to second and third time offenders who are eligible under the current rules, but who are also being denied.

If you pare the excess from within where it should, you could then eliminate the current crisis. And you do have a crisis; for the inmates don't receive proper medical attention. They can't even be sure of delivery of mail within a reasonable amount of time. Those in Trusty Division with medium and minimum security status aren't even allowed to sit by their loved ones during outside visits, when inside maximum security, they are. This last condition is a very serious and explosive one. There are many other wrongs perpetrated by the Department of Corrections upon the prisoners of this state. Things are far from the rosy picture that is currently painted by the majority of the press. It is time you, the people, look the God-like powers of these correction officials and parole board in check before they lead to a disastrous situation.

I ask you in closing to have an open mind for the ways things are, are not the way things are said to be. In this day and age it is time Michigan tried other programs besides constantly building more prisons or larger ones. Michigan is approximately number ten among other states in prison population, yet other states with more prisoners aren't building new prisons. So why must Michigan?

It looked Friday as though several pages of Berrien county history might have disappeared. A two-day search for a record box believed located in the cornerstone of the old courthouse in St. Joseph appeared to be fruitless. Then, late Friday, searching fingers reached the box. It was inlaid in the base of the cornerstone and wedged in place by pieces of wood. The box was placed July 4, 1895, during dedication and cornerstone laying ceremonies for the old building. It is supposed to contain copies of several newspapers of the day, along with court and school records and minutes of supervisor meetings.

For the second time in as many years the Benton Harbor Lions club has been honored by having one of their past presidents elected to the office of district governor. Cullen S. Child, 1209 Hillcrest avenue, St. Joseph, was presented this high office of Lionsism over this past week-end at the annual Lions state convention in Lansing. Child will succeed District Governor Don K. Silcox, also of the Benton Harbor Lions club. The Benton Harbor Lions club is recognized throughout the state as one of the leading service clubs and it is due to this fact that the local club has the unusual honor of having two district governors in successive years.

Ice Cream Is A Hot Issue

WASHINGTON — With the possible exceptions of hot dogs and apple pie, nothing is more sacred to our fast-food society than ice cream — which explains why a proposed change in the formula for the All-American dessert could provoke a gastronomic crisis in the coming weeks.

In a public statement filled with lurid prose about the dangers of "cheap chemicals," the National Milk Producers Federation recently warned that "fabricators" are on the verge of gaining official government sanction to "destroy the integrity of ice cream."

That organization, which represents many of the nation's dairy farmers, predicted that a new ice cream formulation just authorized by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) could lead to the inclusion of the following items in ice cream after June 13:

"Chemically derived sodium caseinate and/or calcium caseinate combined with chemically modified whey protein concentrates, less nutritive starches, cereal solids, low corn syrup solids and lactose."

In fact, the country's favorite cold dessert (an average of four gallons consumed annually by every man, woman and child in the United States) is not in much danger of being transformed into what the dairymen call "a chemical concoction."

As with virtually all other processed foods, the FDA for many years has maintained a "standard of identity" for ice cream, requiring that any product carrying that label include at least 10 per cent milkfat and 10 per cent nonfat milk solids.

But that standard is unenforceable because there is no known method of isolating and measuring nonfat milk solids. So the FDA will require in the future that ice cream contain 2.7 per cent protein, which can be measured, to be provided by any "milk derived ingredients."

The ice cream makers want to use derivatives of casein, a substance produced from skim milk through a harmless chemical process. A pound of casein provides three times as much protein as nonfat dry milk at one-third the cost.

Casein must be imported, principally from Australia and New Zealand, because none is produced in this country. The milk producers claim that sodium caseinate and calcium caseinate will be substituted for 4.5 billion pounds of their milk with a market value of $215 million annually.

But the Agriculture Department, siding with the FDA and the ice cream manufacturers, says those estimates are way out of line, and the dairy farmers' lost sales probably will be only one-third or one-fourth that much.

The dairymen argue that casein is officially classified as a chemical when imported into the United States. That's true, but nobody claims it's unsafe and the Agriculture Department says it's "one of the most complete proteins known."

More important, the country's milk producers — who already are the beneficiaries of the most elaborate and expensive structure of taxpayer-financed federal price supports — are principally concerned not about consumer nutrition but rather protecting their market.

Although the dairymen have resorted to unwarranted scare tactics to advance their selfish interests, they have raised one important point for the romantics among us who believe that ice cream is composed exclusively of whole milk, rich cream and gobs of butter.

In fact, most commercially produced ice cream already is loaded with artificial coloring, sweetening and flavoring agents; extenders; preservatives; emulsifiers and a host of other items which no self-respecting cow would recognize.

The Reluctant Attorney General

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department is deeply divided over the question of how strongly it should support affirmative action programs designed to fight racial and sex discrimination.

Attorney General Griffin Bell and HEW Secretary Joseph Califano may be headed for an open clash over the issue.

The problem has arisen because the Supreme Court has agreed to review a case next fall in which Allan Bakke, a white, has charged that the University of California Medical School's policy of admitting a fixed number of "disadvantaged" students in each class amounts to reverse discrimination and is unconstitutional.

Civil rights supporters, including Assistant Attorney General Drew Days III, are pushing Bell to file an amicus curiae brief in the case, supporting the university. They argue that Justice has to intervene because the Federal government is committed to affirmative action programs.

Califano sent Bell a letter urging that he take that step and enclosing a legal brief drafted by HEW's general counsel in support of the university.

But Bell, insiders say, has been reluctant to take a position. If he makes a public stand at all, they fear, he will try to take some sort of middle position full of "ifs" and "buts" but not effectively put the government squarely behind affirmative action.

The objections of Bell and some others in Justice to supporting the university are based on the fact the program admitted minority students who were not as qualified as white students, like Bakke, who were turned away. That amounts to a quota system and goes further than the ideal affirmative action plan, which merely assures that qualified minorities and women are considered equally with white men.

Califano, however, believes such measures are necessary at least temporarily; he said not long ago he supported quotas to end discrimination, but he received so much protest he later backed down.

The Supreme Court decision is bound to have an impact on all affirmative action programs instituted by schools and businesses, even those which only take equally qualified minorities. The general public impression, if Bakke is upheld, could be that all such programs are illegal no matter what standards are employed, and the equal rights movement might be greatly hurt.

The university has argued that if the program is ruled illegal, it would "in all likelihood mark a return to virtually all-white professional education in the major universities of this country."

The Justice Department is not legally required to take any position at all, although failure to do so in such a significant case would be a conspicuous omission, alarming to civil rights activists. Normally, such a brief should be filed by July, but it could technically be submitted any time before the oral argument next fall.

Bell was similarly reluctant to put his department up front recently on a legal issue which affects the prospects for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. The White House office working for the amendment sent him a 100-page legal argument drawn up by an equal rights lawyer contending that the three states which have rescinded their approval of the amendment have done so illegally.

But the document never got past Bell. He refused to issue a supportive advisory opinion on the issue and instead merely said the problem was one for Congress to decide.

Senior Citizen Apartment Plans Aired In Benton

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The president of a Chicago housing development company last night told the Benton township planning commission his company plans to build a subsidized apartment complex for senior citizens in the township.

Ralph Brown, president of Crossroads Development company, said the company is currently negotiating to buy a site to build the senior citizens housing and said he would make a request for rezoning from the township planning commission when there is a commitment for purchase of the land.

Brown said the development company has not decided how many units the apartment complex will contain or whether it will be a high-rise or low-level structure.

The senior citizens apartment complex, according to Brown, would be financed through the Michigan State Housing Authority — under the same financial arrangement recently proposed by a Southfield development firm requesting land to build a senior citizens apartment complex in the old fruit market area in Benton Harbor.

A property tax abatement will be sought from Benton township, Brown said, and senior citizens will receive a federal subsidy for a portion of their rent. One-bedroom units would rent for an average $275 to $300, he said, and two-bedroom units would rent from $300 to $350.

Brown said the subsidies would be scaled according to the elderly citizens' income with the tenant paying about 25 per cent of his income for rent. As an example, he said a tenant receiving an average $400 a month in Social Security payments would pay $100 a month for rent. The federal government would subsidize $200 a month to pay the $300 rent, Brown said.

Township planning commissioners gave no indication last night of approval or disapproval of the project, and said they would wait for the developer's formal request to be submitted to the planning commission.

Brown declined to disclose the location of the site his company is negotiating to purchase, but said the Michigan State Housing Development Authority requires that multiple housing be "close proximity" to shopping areas.

Also present at the housing presentation last night were five senior citizens and Mrs. Betty Smith, director of the Benton Harbor-Benton township senior citizens center. Mrs. Smith said there was a "definite need" for senior citizens housing in the area, but said senior citizens preferred one or two-story housing rather than high-rise apartments.

Brown also said he found a need for senior citizens housing, saying there was a waiting list of 200 senior citizens for the federally-financed 160-unit Plaza Manor senior citizens housing development just east of Fairplain Plaza.

Benton township also has public housing for senior citizens at the 184-unit Hull's Terra apartments at 1946 East Britain avenue, where 30 per cent or 60 units are set aside for senior citizens, according to Township Supervisor Catheryn Sirk, and at the 175-unit Blossom Acres public housing complex off Fair avenue, where about 60 senior citizens live.

Under the property tax abatement, the developers, who would also manage the apartment operation, would pay a charge for services offered by the township such as police and fire protection, in lieu of property taxes.

The construction of the senior citizens housing would be under a loan program developed by the Michigan State Housing Authority in which the private developers own and manage the project.

The profit from the development comes through the establishment of a "limited dividend corporation," a group of investors who use the loans and liabilities generated by construction of the apartments as a tax write-off.

A request by Multi-Rise Associates, a Southfield development firm, to build a 200-unit for senior citizens under the same financial arrangement in Benton Harbor was recently turned down by the Benton Harbor city commission.

Brown said his company has built multiple housing developments in Freeport, Elgin, Peoria, Rockford, and Downers Grove, Ill.

In other action last night, the township planning commission voted to recommend denial of a request by George Magee for rezoning at 942 Hall street from residential to commercial to use a building as a service garage.

The planning commission sent to committee a request for a license to sell second-hand merchandise at 3341 Territorial road by Donald Harrison, of 3591 East Britain avenue.

Benton Victim Identified; Accused Slayer In Court

Benton township Det. Roger Peters said today that fingerprints have positively identified a murder victim as Sam Jewell, 53.

Jewell's body was found May 22 in his apartment. Cause of death was determined as a stab wound to the heart, but positive identification was not made until a fingerprint return was received yesterday afternoon, Peters said.

Claudia M. Williams, 27, is accused of second degree murder in the death of Jewell, 55. She demanded examination when arraigned in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday on a charge of second degree murder and was held without bond.

The court record lists her address as 1841 Union street, Apartment 2-A, Briarwood complex in Benton township. That was also the residence of Jewell. The arrest warrant for Miss Williams listed the date of Jewell's death as May 13.

In a petition seeking a court-appointed attorney, Miss Williams listed her occupation as a fruit picker.

TWIN CITIES SYMPHONY

Atmosphere Of Joy At Pops Concert

By SAN DEE WALLACE
Staff Writer

Twin Cities Symphony created an atmosphere of joy in music Wednesday night at St. Joseph high school auditorium.

The symphony gave an exciting and rousing finale to its 1976-77 season with its presentation of a pops concert.

One highlight followed another highlight during the concert with the orchestra, under the dynamic direction of Robert Vodnoy, conductor and musical director, proving to be equal to the exceptionally talented soloists.

From beginning to conclusion, the near-capacity audience responded with appreciation for the performances with enthusiastic applause and complimenting the evening with a standing ovation as the program drew to a close.

Dr. Donald Moely, trumpet, and Daira Langens, piano, were the featured soloists for the pops concert.

Both are members of the Lake Michigan college music faculty and both are exceptional performers.

Dr. Moely was brilliant in the three selections he performed with the orchestra. His performances ranged from the classical, to standard music and jazz.

He began with the allegro movement of the Trumpet Concerto by Haydn in which he displayed his virtuoso talent with ease. He then performed the Ode to Trumpet by Reed creating a mood absorbed by the audience in this truly beautiful work. Performing in a trio with Jeff Washington, a student at LMC, electric bass, and well-known teacher and musician, Larry Ernst, piano, Dr. Moely presented Village Place by Vizzini, in sparkling jazz.

As the featured soloist in Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue, Daira Langens displayed for the twin cities audience, the talent that has taken her to perform in New York's Carnegie Hall.

From the opening wall of the clarinet performed by Lemurt Olson, Mrs. Langens performed with power, control, skill and especially sensitivity giving the familiar American work dignity and appeal. Her performance was superb.

In addition to performing a different type of concert, the orchestra also had a different look rather than their normal black — with the gentlemen in their shirt sleeves and the women in spring colored gowns. Even Vodnoy doffed his black tuxedo and appeared in a baby blue one.

The symphony opened the concert with the popular dance tune, The Hustle, by Van McCoy, arranged by Gordon Mumford, and immediately won the hearts of the audience.

Following the soloists' performances, the orchestra was featured with music from movies and Broadway.

Performed were the Suite from "Jaws," including, First Victim with special percussion effects and featuring the cello; Out to Sea and Epitaph. Following the theme from "Mahogany," the symphony burst forth sounding like a marching band with "Stars and Stripes Forever." This section of the program was concluded with a medley from "Fiddler on the Roof."

To conclude the unusual and enjoyable evening, the orchestra accompanied the audience in a sing-a-long. Led by Stephen Sizer, the audience sang six songs ranging from I Want A Girl to Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet.

Festive Cloth

You can make unusual tablecloths for that festive party or shower. Take a new, or neatly ironed bedsheet and spread it over your table.

Then stitch layers of nylon net to the sheet. It can be decorated as simply or as extravagantly as you desire. Little bunches of artificial flowers can be caught here and there to add a party look in keeping with the theme.

After the party is over, a few snips of the scissors will break the threads and remove the nylon net frills, leaving you with the original bedsheet which can be laundered easily.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

No Help For Mixed Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: My brother and his girl friend have been going together for over seven years. Mary Ann is a devout Catholic and Mark is Jewish, but not very devout. They are both in their late 20s and Mark is well off financially. The problem is how they will raise their children. It isn't that Mark is so dedicated to the Jewish faith, he just says he doesn't want his children to be raised as gentiles. Mary Ann feels this is very unfair under the circumstances. Please don't tell me to MYOB. Mark and Mary Ann are as eager for a solution as I am. — Concerned

Dear Con: Sorry, but I AM going to tell you to MYOB. This is not your problem. If Mary Ann and Mark are interested in my opinion, they can write to me and get it.

If you were to go to them with "Ann Landers said," it would be considered interference by at least one of the parties and be (or she) would be right.

Free Country

Dear Ann Landers: I SMOKE AND INTEND TO CONTINUE. Within reason. The problem is that some people forget this is a free country.

I belong to a bridge club. One woman who is also a long-time member gets on my nerves. The minute a cigarette comes into sight, she says, "Don't smoke. It hurts my throat." If it hurts her throat, why doesn't she drop out of the club? Whenever there is a "problem" the smoker is always expected to bow to the non-smoker. I think this is terribly unfair. Will you do all of us smokers a big favor and comment, please? — N.Y. Smoker

Dear N.Y.: Why is the smoker always expected to bow to the non-smoker? Because it IS a free country. The air belongs to everyone. No one has the right to pollute it.

If an individual wishes to smoke, he should be permitted to do so, but only insofar as he does not interfere with the rights of others.

Laboratory tests have produced evidence that non-smokers who breathe the air polluted by smokers for extended periods of time (meetings, card parties, cocktail bashes, etc.) are adversely affected by it.

I urge all my readers to summon the courage when someone lights a cigarette and asks, "Do you mind if I smoke?" to say, "Yes, I DO mind. Do us both a favor and put it out."

Not Unusual

Dear Ann Landers: I've asked this question of several people and have gotten several different answers. No one seems to know for sure. Please consult with your authorities and get me the correct information. It means a lot to me, for reasons I won't go into.

Is it possible for a dark-skinned (Caucasian), brown-eyed couple to have a fair-skinned, blue-eyed child? — Need To Know

Dear Need: I checked with a Nobel Prize-winning geneticist. His answer was, "It happens all the time." So there's your answer — right from the top of Aerial View Or Pizza?

The T-shirt craze has clearly gotten out of hand.

The other day, I encountered three propositions, four declarations, two obscene suggestions, and a word so bad I stopped the car and covered the wearer's body with a road map of Phoenix's downtown area.

Maybe I'm a prude, but T-shirts are not for everyone. I saw one the other day worn by your basic full-figured woman. I nudged my mother. "Why would anyone wear around an aerial view of the graduation class of midshipmen at Annapolis?"

"It's not an aerial view of the graduation class of midshipmen at Annapolis," she said. "It's a pizza."

"I guess I've never seen pepperonis that size before."

"The trouble with you," she said, "is that you do not have the figure for it."

"Oh, c'mon!" I said. "Is that what you think? Why, I could walk into any store in the shopping center and get dozens of T-shirts that would look stunning on me."

"Try it," she said dryly. When I told the first salesperson I wanted a T-shirt, she said, "What do you want it to say?"

"Something clever," I said.

"How about, 'IRONED SHEETS ARE A HEALTH HAZARD'?"

"Your chest can't handle that many words," she said.

"I told you so," said mother. "Then, how about your standard, 'HAVE A GOOD DAY'?" I pressed.

"Your arms would cover HAVE A and DAY, and the GOOD would wrinkle."

"How about 'VOTE!'?" said mother. "You could handle that."

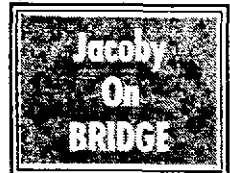

"Here's one that's popular," said the salesperson. She held up a T-shirt with one word on it — "BABY" — with an arrow pointing downward.

"That's ridiculous," I said. "I'm not expecting."

"No problem," she said. "This one comes with an infant T-shirt for the newborn that reads, 'RIGHT,' or after nine months you can buy a new arrow that points to your head."

"I don't believe this," I said. Later, as mother and I headed for the car, we saw a large blonde with jeans so tight her hipbones looked like towel hooks. Tucked inside was a T-shirt that read in big, black letters, "SPACE FOR RENT."

"You can say what you want," said mother, "but she's certainly well read."

An avid reader sent us the North and South hands and asked us the best percentage play to make six hearts.

Our reply was that we would try to get some diamond discards from our opponents by simply leading out six trumps while chucking three diamonds from dummy. Somewhere there may be a couple of players who won't fall for this swindle, but it sure looks good to us. Just suppose we run off those six hearts while discarding a spade, a club and then all four diamonds from dummy.

Maybe the defender with three diamonds will hold all of them. If he has we are likely to go down to defeat and will look mighty silly if a simple attack in diamonds would succeed due to the presence of the king in the West hand.

We have set up East-West holdings that will defeat the contract against any line of play. Of course, if South draws trumps, leads the queen of spades and lets it ride East must refuse to win the trick. But anything is possible when you see all the cards.

Judge's 'Rape' Remarks Draw Feminist Fire

By ELLEN M. PORATH
Associated Press Writer
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A county judge who says rape is a normal reaction from juveniles exposed to provocative clothing is under fire from women demanding his resignation.

Sixty people picketed the city-county building here Thursday, protesting comments made Wednesday by Dane County Judge Archie Simonson in the case of a 16-year-old girl raped by three boys in a school stairwell.

At a disposition hearing for a 15-year-old boy who in January had pleaded no contest to charges of second-degree sexual assault, Simonson said the boy's reaction was understandable.

Complaining about provocative women's clothing, Simonson asked, "Should we punish severely a 15- or 16-year-old who reacts to it normally?"

JUDGE SIMONSON Sparks Criticism

Asst. Dist. Atty. Meryl Manhardt called the judge's courtroom remarks "particularly sexist." She said the rape was the most serious crime in the history of Madison public schools.

The judge said in an interview Thursday that it was "normal for impressionable juveniles to react violently" to some women's clothing because they are "groping to decide what is proper conduct in this world."

"Their sexual juices really start to flow at 14, 15 and 16," said the 52-year-old judge. "It doesn't take much to provoke the guy. Whether you like it or not, a woman's a sex object and they're the ones who turn the team on, generally."

Simonson found the youth delinquent and ordered him to remain at home for a year under court supervision. The boy must be tutored at home and continue receiving treatment at a nearby youth center.

A 14-year-old boy accused in the case was sentenced to one year at a group home in Milwaukee. A third boy was given immunity from prosecution in exchange for testimony against the others.

Simonson said his remarks should not cause women to fear appearing before him in sexual assault cases, but the women protesters disagreed.

"Rape is a violent crime, a terrible crime, and here is a judge calling it a normal reaction," said a statement issued by the protesters, whose action was sponsored by the local chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW).

"Simonson's usefulness is over as far as his continued judgeship is concerned," NOW said. "What woman would ever believe that she could receive fair treatment from him?"

The protesters, including women dressed in bikinis and parkas, said they objected to Simonson's courtroom remarks, not to the punishment ordered for the youth.

Elena Cappella, one of the protesters, said women were organizing around the city of 175,000, home of the University of Wisconsin. She said they would try to have Simonson recalled and would work to defeat him in elections next April.

Dane County Chief Judge Richard Bardwell said critics had little hope of removing the judge because that is done only by a two-thirds vote of the state legislature.

Senate Panel Polishing Bill To Curb PBB Taint

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation aimed at keeping PBB-contaminated products off Michigan dinner tables has received finishing touches in a Senate committee.

The bill is expected to go to the full Senate next week after the Senate Agriculture and Consumer Affairs Committee studies a final draft of its work on Tuesday.

The panel reached tentative agreement Thursday on the bill, which for five years would keep PBB-tainted cattle off the market and would isolate cows which show traces of the chemical in their milk.

But before a final Senate vote, the measure will likely go to the Senate Appropriations Committee for a fiscal analysis. Drafters of the bill said it will cost roughly $35 million over four years, but the estimate is a major area of controversy.

Like a House-passed bill, it would lower the permitted level of PBB in dairy cattle from 300 parts per billion to 20 ppb, and reimburse farmers for cattle destroyed. But it also sets a 5 ppb standard for cow milk to determine which cows should be banned from production.

And authors say the bill, unlike the House measure, will keep all remaining PBB out of the food chain. The House bill would have required the testing of only about 80,000 suspect animals and destruction of those exceeding the tolerance levels, in hopes of eliminating most of the remaining PBB.

The new version also allocates $2 million for medical help for persons who believe they suffered health problems from contamination by PBB or polychlorinated biphenyl, a fire retardant chemical accidentally mixed with Michigan livestock feed in 1973.

The Milliken administration — which urged passage of the House version — has not taken a position on the Senate bill, but

He Didn't Know Feed Was Illegal

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan Farm Bureau Services official has testified that his firm illegally sold PBB tainted animal feed, but says he didn't know about it at the time.

Paul Mullineaux, production manager at the firm's Battle Creek Township feed plant, said the sales were made during May and June, 1974.

"I did not knowingly do it," Mullineaux insisted in testimony Thursday in the state's first trial stemming from PBB contamination.

The trial, now in its 12th week of testimony, is over a damage suit filed by Missaukee County dairyman Roy Tacoma, who claims PBB and other chemicals cost him more than 100 cattle.

At the time, there were no federal guidelines establishing the amount of PBB permitted in animal feed. U.S. Food and Drug Administration officials have since explained that the lack of a tolerance level meant it was illegal to sell feed containing any trace of the fire retardant.

But Farm Bureau Services lawyers have argued that in the absence of a federal level, they broke no law by selling feed containing PBB.

the agriculture department says it is more practical than the House measure.

The bill would work as follows:

—All dairy cattle born before Jan. 1, 1978, and sold for slaughter — almost 500,000 over the next four years — would have to be tested before leaving the farm. If they exceeded the new PBB tolerance level, they would be destroyed.

—All milk in farms' bulk holding tanks would be tested. If a tank shows traces of PBB, all cows in the herd would be tested. Those whose milk contains 5 ppb or more PBB would be kept out of production, and the state would dispose of the milk. Milk tanks at such farms would be tested repeatedly to make sure they are clean.

Tough Air Rules Up To Senate

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmentalists and the Carter administration are looking to the Senate to restore tough automobile emission controls shut down by the House.

The House on Thursday passed a major revision of federal clean air laws, including an industry-backed amendment to delay tighter standards. Some of the rules now set to take effect on 1978 models would be delayed for two years, others indefinitely.

The House rejected an administration proposal for a one-year delay in the standards and, by a slim margin, a last minute compromise attempt by sponsors of the clean air bill.

The House then sent the amended bill to the Senate, where similar legislation with tighter standards resembling those proposed by President Carter will be voted on next month.

If the Senate doesn't approve tighter auto-emission controls, then President Carter may consider vetoing the legislation "because of the adverse health effects" in the House version, said Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., floor manager for the original bill.

He called the House decision to go along with the industry-backed measure a "cop-out to the auto industry, almost as if they'd written the bill themselves."

Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., chairman of the congressional environmental study conference, vowed to work in the Senate for adoption of an even stricter timetable than that proposed by the administration.

He said the House action amounted to "a pardon for the automobile manufacturers."

Environmental groups said the House-passed bill is a major weakening of the Clean Air Act of 1970. "The House has chosen to protect the $4-billion-a-year profits of the American automobile industry rather than the lungs of the American people," said the National Clean Air Coalition. "It is now up to the Senate to protect the breathing public."

The amendment adopted by the House had the backing of the United Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO. The unions feared that the bill's tight standards might have resulted in reduced car sales and more auto-industry unemployment.

Seek Miracle

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — In an age short on miracles, the Salvation Army is looking for one worth $500,000.

Unless it comes up with the money, the organization will have to close its Extonide Home for the elderly here.

If the home is phased out, there is the matter of a $40,000 unpaid mortgage. The Salvation Army bought the home in 1986 for $200,000 and spent $370,000 additional for remodeling. It was a private residence before 1986.

Congress Pro-Spending; Carter Warns Of Veto

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter's first presidential veto appears inevitable as Congress shows little willingness to heed his warnings about the need to cut back on federal spending.

Whether Carter rejects a farm bill, money for water projects or the huge appropriations bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, he's certain to face a stiff fight to make his veto stick.

Carter drew the line on curbing the budget at his news conference Thursday. "I have to reserve the right and the duty to say no when spending is excessive," he said.

Later in the news conference, Carter said he has "the right to veto bills if I think they are excessive."

Carter pointed to the farm bill and the water projects appropriation as prime contenders for his first veto.

The meeting with reporters saw Carter publicly air a dispute that has been brewing between the Democratic President and congressional liberals. Carter has taken a firm position at White House meetings with members of Congress on his determination to balance the budget by the end of his term.

Congressional Democrats have told him pointedly that they don't share his determination to balance the budget, especially if it means sacrificing social programs.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., called Carter's threat to veto the farm bill "scare talk. It scares a lot of farmers, but it doesn't scare members of Congress."

And one of Carter's fellow Democrats, Sen. James Abourezk of South Dakota, brushed aside administration claims that the target prices set for major crops in the farm bill were too high and could cost nearly $4 billion, compared to the $2 billion price tag for the support levels proposed by Carter.

A veto might be avoided if the bill that goes to the White House is closer to the $2.3 billion measure approved by the House Agriculture Committee than the $4 billion bill that passed the Senate Tuesday night. The House is scheduled to act on the committee bill next month.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said, "I expect the final bill to be closer to the House bill than to the Senate bill."

Avoiding a veto on the farm bill may be a lot easier than avoiding one on the public works appropriations bill containing funds for water projects Carter has fought to eliminate.

The public works bill has cleared the House Appropriations Committee.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., a leader of the fight to save the water projects, said,

"This is hardly the place for the President to draw a line in the sand. I hope to be able to work with and counsel the administration to avoid a veto."

If Carter vetoes funds for the water projects, Johnston predicted the Senate would be able to muster the two-thirds margin needed to override.

The appropriation for the Labor Department and HEW, approved Thursday by the House Appropriations Committee, would provide $61.3 billion for the next fiscal year, $1.4 billion over what the President wants.

Reprieve On Lunches?

LANSING (AP) — The House Education Committee wants to give state school districts an extra year before they have to offer lunch programs. The committee this week reaffirmed the requirement that all kindergarten through 12th-grade districts must offer the lunches, but approved a bill extending the deadline for compliance from Oct. 1, 1977 to Oct. 1, 1978. The bill also would make breakfast programs optional. Under a law adopted last session and scheduled to take effect in October, all schools were required to offer lunch programs. Those schools where more than 20 per cent of the children were eligible for free or cheaper lunches also were required to offer breakfast programs. The committee extended the deadline because state funding for the meals has not yet been approved.

Child Porn Probers In L.A.

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A House committee is bringing its investigation into child pornography to Los Angeles, seeking ways to control a growing trade in photographs, movies, slides and books depicting children engaged in sexual acts.

Los Angeles has become a kind of capital city of the so-called "Kiddie Porn" business. Investigator Lloyd Martin of the Los Angeles Police Department estimates that 30,000 boys and girls are sexually exploited by adults in Los Angeles every year.

Martin said much of child pornography is made in southern California. "You can tell by the suntan marks on a child's body that (he or she) is from a sunny climate," he said.

The scheduled leadoff witness today before the House Select Committee on Education and Labor is Robin Lloyd, a Los Angeles-based television newsmen who has written a book on boy prostitution.

Lloyd says the children who most frequently wind up in the pages of such magazines as "Nudest Moppets" and "Little Girls Together" come from "a vast army of a million kids who run away each year."

Lloyd, who says he has 264 magazines, each costing about $7, dealing with child pornography, relates what he considers a typical scenario among the hundreds of children, ages 8 to 16, who become the stars of Kiddie Porn:

"A 12-year-old girl, a 13-year-old boy comes to Los Angeles. They're split from Omaha or someplace looking for a better deal. They're hungry and they're cold and they don't have a place to stay. They're a prime target for a recruiter for pornography."

"When you're 12 and you're hungry you might soon discover that you're not as broke as you thought you were. You've got a marketable commodity — your body. You've got something to hock."

Casino Gambling Boosted

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A special House committee says proposed casino gambling in Detroit merits further study. The committee said that gambling is popular, would benefit Detroit's tourist business and employment and probably not increase crime drastically. Committee Chairman Casmer Ogonowski, D-Detroit, who has introduced casino proposals, said the legislature should not dismiss casino gambling without further examination.

SENATE TACKLES DRINKING AGE

House Votes To Stop Bounty

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) —
The state House has approved a bill to eliminate Michigan's bounty on coyotes, but backers fear their victory may be reversed in the Senate.

The Senate, meanwhile, rejected attempts to raise the legal drinking age to 21 as it discussed a bill raising it from 18 to 19.

By a 64-30 tally, the House voted Thursday to end a 42-year practice of paying bounties on dead coyotes, thousands of which roam northern Michigan. Supporters said bounty payments threw $5 million of state money down the drain since 1935 and hadn't trimmed the coyote population.

The coyote bounty bill has won House approval several times before, but always dies in the Senate Conservation Committee.

Many Upper Peninsula sportsmen oppose the bounty repeal, arguing that coyotes are vicious animals that kill deer by the thousands, depleting the animals they like to hunt.

And the chairman of the Senate committee, Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, has indicated he will not let the bill outlawing the coyote bounty pass.

Bounties are $15 for male coyotes and $20 for female coyotes, paid by the Department of Natural Resources. About $50,000 was paid last year on about 3,500 animals.

Besides the bounty, coyote hunters can get an average $50-60 by selling the animal's pelt. DNR officials say that's incentive enough to hunt coyotes.

Backers of the bill ending the bounty plan cite studies which have shown it is ineffective in curbing the coyote population or the killing of deer. The scheme also invites fraud, they say, because many of the coyotes turned in for bounty in Michigan are trapped in Wisconsin.

In other action, House lawmakers put off until Tuesday a final vote on a $150 million appropriations bill that includes an $800,000 subsidy for Pontiac Stadium, $29 million for the city of Detroit and about $5.4 million in grants to other cities.

The Senate, meanwhile, began debate on a bill raising the legal drinking age from 18 to 19 for three years beginning Dec. 1. By a voice vote, the chamber rejected amendments to raise it by steps to 21.

The sponsor of the amendments, Sen. Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, said raising the age just one year won't keep alcohol out of the hands of high school students, who socialize with 19-year-olds. But others said a one-year increase was enough.

Good News For Candidates

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's three announced gubernatorial candidates have gotten some good news from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. He issued an interpretation of the state's 1976 campaign reform act stating that any donations made to a candidate's campaign after April 1 will qualify for public funds if the candidate files his organizational statement by July 1. Three Democrats announced their intentions to run for governor early because they wanted to make sure they qualified for the maximum public funding. Under the 1976 law, candidates who raise over $30,000 in private contributions are eligible for two dollars of public money for each dollar they raise — up to a maximum of $60,000 in the primary and $750,000 in the general election. Kelley's ruling means the three early candidates will indeed qualify for funds to match the money they've raised so far. They are state Sens. William Fitzgerald of Detroit and Patrick McCollough of Dearborn, and Public Service Commissioner William Ralls.

11-MEMBER PANEL NAMED

Cass To Study Assessments

CASSOPOLIS — The Cass county board of commissioners last night appointed an 11-man committee to study assessments and the needs of the county equalization department after tabling a motion to retire the equalization director the board fired two weeks ago.

Board action came as 11 township supervisors attending the night session defended fired equalization director Frank Nevins and told of assessment inequities in various townships.

But in discussing assessment complaints, the board ruled out a $450,000 reappraisal of the 30,000 land parcels in the county.

The countywide appraisal had been suggested by Raymond Camp, a field representative for the state tax commission.

Nevins, who had held the county equalization director's post since 1974, lost the $14,500-a-year job May 10 when commissioners voted 7 to 4 to fire him because of continuing complaints over property assessment figures.

The complaints have produced a LeGrange township citizens' group that has threatened to withhold taxes, led to the resignation of the supervisor and sparked a recall drive against most of the other remaining township officials.

At last night's county board meeting, the township supervisors defending Nevins said he had in the past been helpful, cooperative and had done a good job.

But a motion by Commissioner Johnnie Rodebush of Niles to retire Nevins was tabled in a 5 to 4 vote. Voting to table the rehiring motion were Commissioners Donald Foust of Edwardsburg; Kenneth Fox and Herman Saitz of Cassopolis; Robert Hartranft of Union; and Genevieve Toothaker of Dowagiac. Voting against tabling were Rodebush and Steve Toth of Edwardsburg; Dean Bussler of Dowagiac; and Wilber D. Breseman of Marcellus. Commissioners Donald Martin of Niles and Raymond Tutwiler of Dowagiac were absent.

After county commissioners heard complaints about assessment inequities in some townships, Board Chairman Saitz appointed the committee to study the needs of the equalization department, its duties in assessing, and the needs for a director and a field man.

Appointed were Pokagon township Supervisor John Keller; Charles Springsteen, Dowagiac assessor; Marvin Woods, Howard township assessor; Robert Smith, Mason township assessor (as chairman); Lee Dodd, a former county commissioner from Howard township; and County Commissioners Foust, Tutwiler, Bussler, Rodebush and Saitz.

In other areas, the board announced the tentative date for moving into the county's new medical care facility is July 11 and that construction on the parking lot at the courthouse is due to start June 1 and be finished in 90 days.

Former Gridder Accused In Midland Coed's Death

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A former Northwood Institute football player faced arraignment today on murder charges in the slaying of a coed whose nearly nude body was found on the campus May 10.

Ronald Gene Moller, 19, of Monroe, Mich., was arrested in Monroe County late Thursday. Police said Moller was named in a warrant on an open charge of murder in the death of Marilyn Goodman, 18, of Mount Prospect, Ill., a Chicago suburb. He was slated for arraignment in Midland District court today.

The partially clad body of the freshman secretarial student was found near a wooded path at the school, a short distance from the main gate of the secluded campus. An autopsy revealed that she had been strangled. Medical Examiner J. Daniel Cline said the woman had been dead about 48 hours before she was found.

According to Midland County Prosecutor Doyle Roland, medical tests revealed semen on the woman's body. Roland said there were no plans to charge Moller with rape or sexual misconduct.

Although Roland refused to reveal many details about the case, he said more than 70 persons had been questioned in the slaying, and that Moller's name had figured prominently in the inquiry.

The coed was last seen alive early Sunday, May 8, when she left a party with a young man.

Prosecutor Roland said that man was Moller, and said evidence indicated the youth, who left Northwood several months ago, had invited the coed for a ride in his new 1977 car.

Northwood officials said Moller attended the college from the fall of 1975 through the fall of 1977. They said he was suspended briefly then, not for academic reasons, but did not apply for readmission in the spring term.

Official Testifies He Gave Mrs. Ford Wrong Advice

A state official yesterday testified he had erroneously advised Mrs. Helen Ford and the chairman of the Berrien County Action (BCA) board that certain funds in BCA's winterization program could be used for a pay hike for Mrs. Ford.

The testimony of Albert Benson, technical assistance advisor for the state Bureau of Community Services (BCS), came during the third day of trial in Berrien Circuit court for Mrs. Ford.

She is being tried on a charge of obtaining $5,900 in back wages from BCA under false pretenses while she was executive director.

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka said he expected to finish calling witnesses about noon today. Although the trial was scheduled to end today, Defense Atty. Benjamin Logan said he saw "no way" the trial could conclude today. He said he expects to call five witnesses, but it has not yet been decided whether Mrs. Ford will take the stand.

The crux of the trial is payment of back pay, including a pay increase, to Mrs. Ford from a winterization program operated by BCA, an anti-poverty agency. Funding comes from the federal Community Services Administration (CSA) to the state BCS and then to Berrien County Action. Previous witnesses have testified CSA funds cannot be used for a pay hike unless the federal government grants a waiver, which Mrs. Ford did not receive.

The prosecution contends Mrs. Ford made false statements to get the back pay, while the defense claims she did not knowingly make any false representations.

Under cross-examination by Logan, Benson testified that funds for BCA's winterization program came from CSA, and also the federal Department of Commerce which furnished "Title 10" funds. He said some $64,000 of the program was Title 10 money.

"I was probably asked (by Mrs. Ford and Nora Jefferson, BCA board chairman) if Title 10 could be used for the salary, and I probably said they might be able to," Benson testified.

Witnesses have testified that the only way Mrs. Ford could receive a raise without the federal waiver was to use money other than CSA funds.

"It was my opinion at that time (when the BCA board granted the raise) that Title 10 money was not CSA money," Benson said. "Would that constitute other money?" asked Logan. "Yes, sir," Benson replied.

Benson, under questioning from Smietanka, said that although he gave that opinion to

Only Dow's Penta Favored By House

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co.'s development of a wood preservative apparently low in poisonous dioxins has won the firm an endorsement from Michigan lawmakers and a state agency.

While the state Department of Agriculture was hearing arguments from manufacturers of the wood preservative pentachlorophenol (penta), the House voted Thursday to urge a U.S. ban on all penta except that produced by Dow. Penta, also known as PCP, is suspected to have caused illness early this year in eight dairy herds later quarantined by the state. The cows apparently licked or ate wood treated with penta, a common wood preservative in wide use over the past 30-40 years.

Scientists say the illnesses may have been caused by dioxins, highly toxic contaminants present in penta.

State agriculture officials are considering a regulation limiting the amount of dioxins allowed in penta. Only Dow's product would currently qualify for sale under the rule. In the House, lawmakers approved a resolution urging the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to ban the manufacture or sale of unpurified penta.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Mark W. Pitcher, 17, Berrien Springs, was arrested early today by police here on a charge of vandalism to the Berrien Springs high school lawn.

Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police said they observed a car spinning its tires and making power turns on the south high school lawn about 2 a.m. Pitcher, 436 South Cass street, was released later after posting $50 bond, police reported. He was identified by police as a senior at the high school. Damage was under $50, according to police.

Recovery Makes Genesee Sheriff Mad As Wet Hen

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Genesee County Sheriff John P. O'Brien says his department is supposed to retrieve the bodies of drowning victims, and he doesn't want anyone else doing it.

O'Brien has threatened to arrest a Richfield Township police officer who led a rescue team that pulled the body of a teen-aged boy from a reservoir near here last weekend.

"This is not an idle threat," O'Brien said. "A 1947 Michigan law clearly defines the responsibilities for recovering

Niles Girl Hurt When Hit By Car

NILES — Susan Clobridge, 12, Niles, was reported in good condition today at Pawating hospital here with injuries sustained when struck by a car yesterday, state police here said.

Troopers said Susan darted out in front of a car driven by James Kinney, 51, Niles, about 7:40 a.m. on Bond street near the Bell road intersection. Two witnesses said the girl ran out into the street without looking as her school bus approached, troopers said. No tickets were issued, according to police.

Anti-Drillers Lose Rounds

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Opponents of expanded gas and oil drilling in Pigeon River Country State Forest have suffered another setback in their battle to keep oil rigs out of the wilderness area. An Ingham County Circuit Court judge has ordered the state Department of Natural Resources director to call off further hearings on 10 applications to drill in the northern Lower Michigan forest. So DNR Director Howard Tanner — acting as supervisor of wells — will have to decide whether to approve further drilling without hearing more arguments from environmentalists who oppose the plan. Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brown ruled that Tanner may not hold the hearings, and should go ahead and act on the 10 applications. Brown said anyone wishing to challenge Tanner's final decision can appeal to the Natural Resources Commission or file a lawsuit.

Mother Accused In Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Maryris Burwell told police she heard a voice in her head that sounded like God, ordering her to kill her child. The 21-year-old Detroit woman was arraigned this week on a charge of first-degree murder in the brutal stabbing death of her 1½-month-old son, Ta'Darryl. The infant's body was discovered early Thursday morning by Miss Burwell's parents. Police said the baby had been stabbed 30 times with a butcher knife, wrapped in a blanket, and dropped on the living room floor of the home he and his mother shared with her parents. Miss Burwell was found sitting nearby, police said. She told officers she was obeying a voice inside her head. The mother was arraigned on a charge of first-degree murder, and was ordered held without bond at the Wayne County Jail.

Final Farewell To Gordon

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Nearly 700 persons, many of them his former television guests, filled a suburban Detroit funeral home Thursday to bid a final farewell to controversial TV commentator Lou Gordon. Gordon, 60, died in his sleep Tuesday. "There were times when those of us who were his friends would have preferred that he temper his words, that he soften his attacks," eulogized Rabbi M. Robert Syme. "That was not his style. If he felt the public was being victimized, his response was 'We're not going to let them get away with it.'" Gordon's interview program, "The Lou Gordon Show," had been broadcast in Detroit since 1963, and syndicated to seven other cities beginning in 1971. He also had been writing a twice-weekly column for the Detroit News.

'Big Boy,' 3, Tries Driving To School

HUBBARDSTON, Mich. (AP) — The sheriff's deputy leaned into the smashed, upside-down car. Spotting only a child, he asked the little boy where his mother was.

"I was driving," 3-year-old Michael Delbert Ward responded indignantly. Following his father's advice that he try to be a big boy, the Hubbardston lad loaded his dog into the family car Thursday and took the wheel, tracing an erratic two-mile path through rural Ionia County, the sheriff's office said.

BACK TO TRICYCLE: Three-year-old Michael Delbert Ward goes back to his tricycle after being rescued from family car that he turned over by driving it into ditch. Thursday Mike loaded his dog into his parent's car and drove on erratic two-mile journey through rural Ionia county, sheriff's office said. Deputy said boy took ring holding four keys from hook in family kitchen and drove off after fetching dog inside. (AP Wirephoto) hopping from the seat onto the accelerator and then jumping back onto the seat to steer, reported Terry Jungel, the deputy investigating the bizarre episode.

"Ten times he went in the ditch along the road. That must have been when he was down on the floor," Jungel said. "I don't think he ever attained any speed over 10 miles per hour. The whole thing probably didn't take over 15 minutes."

The deputy said Michael took a keyring from a hook in the family kitchen, figured out which key would start the car, and drove off after fetching the dog inside.

"He really wants to go to school bad," Jungel reported. Michael's father, according to the deputy, theorized the drive was triggered Wednesday night when he told his son he should begin acting like a big boy since he would be going to school soon.

The boy apparently was headed for the Hubbardston School. "He knew where the school was and that's where he said he was going," Jungel said.

His mother apparently was distracted by another child when Michael took off.

Oddly, no one reported seeing the auto's wanderings. "The call came in as a rollover with a man pinned," Jungel said.

Michael emerged from the wreck unhurt as did his dog. Jungel said the auto was heavily damaged although it appeared to have been almost at a standstill when it crashed into several trees and overturned. No charges were filed. "He's only about two feet tall. It's impossible to be stern with him. And, I didn't want to give him a bad impression on of policemen so I just told him he was a bad boy and he is too young to drive," Jungel said. Michael was turned over to his father, who asked for a ticket with copies voided so that he can present the ticket to Michael when his son reaches the legal driving age of 16.

That request, Jungel said, he'll have to think about.

"It just proves you should hide your keys. You can't be too cautious with kids. They see a lot," Jungel commented. "I always get the good ones but this will probably be my classic."

Detroit Mayor's Aide Charged

DETROIT (AP) — A former aide to Detroit Mayor Coleman Young has been named in a felony warrant for allegedly embezzling $11,000 from the mayor's political account. The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office issued the warrant Wednesday against Louis Lee, who reportedly has been working in Washington since he was disbarred as a lawyer in Michigan early this year. The warrant is based on a complaint signed by Young's executive assistant in charge of the political account, Malcolm Dade, according to chief Assistant Prosecutor Dominick Carnovale. Carnovale said Lee is charged with embezzling $7,500 on one occasion and $3,500 on another from the People of Detroit Committee, the name of Mayor Young's political account. Lee was treasurer of the committee in 1975 and its co-chairman last year. During both years he had check-writing authority. Lee, 31, has acknowledged that he converted $35,000 of the money for his own use, but said he replaced the money by taking more than $70,000 from a trust fund he established for a client.

'Conflict' Probe Asked

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A Grand Rapids attorney is asking the U.S. Justice Department to investigate possible conflict of interest in a Detroit-operated savings and loan institution in Kentwood. Detroit's First Federal Savings and Loan was licensed to operate a branch in Kentwood within nine months after the firm hired a former director of the licensing agency, says attorney Robert Mirque. He represents a group of disgruntled Grand Rapids area investors who filed suit last week in federal court seeking an order barring First Federal from opening the Kentwood branch next month. The investors contend the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington discriminated against them by refusing the grant them a license to open a savings and loan office, then turning around and awarding it to the First Federal.

Six Named Drought Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six Michigan counties are among 30 nationwide that have been added to a federal list of emergency drought areas eligible for federal aid. The Michigan counties are: Jackson, Mason, Montcalm, Kalamazoo, Manistee and Newaygo. The remaining counties are in Texas and Arkansas. The 30 new designations were in addition to 1,332 counties in 24 western and midwestern states already designated for federal drought aid. The aid includes $175 million provided by the Community Emergency Drought Relief Act of 1977 signed Monday by President Carter.

Del Rio Loses Again

DETROIT (AP) — Suspended Recorder's Court Judge James Del Rio, faced with the possibility of being permanently barred from any judicial post, has lost another legal battle. Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brennan has ruled that only the state Supreme Court can make rules for the Judicial Tenure Commission, which Del Rio is suing for alleged violation of his constitutional rights. In a 15-page opinion, Brennan said he lacked authority to judge Del Rio's suit. Del Rio was accused by the commission of judicial misconduct. Following hearings on the matter, the commission recommended last March that he be removed from office and permanently barred from holding any judicial position. The Supreme Court has yet to rule on the commission's recommendation.

MSU Reconsidering Film

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan State University Board of Trustees has bowed to crowd pressure and agreed to reconsider the school's controversial Iran film project before most students leave the campus for the summer. The trustees were to conduct their regular monthly meeting today, and a board member agreed to reintroduce the issue. A crowd of about 250 students and faculty attending a special board session Thursday night jeered the board's refusal to consider breaking MSU's contract with the National Iranian Radio and Television Network and there. The project calls for MSU to produce a series of documentary films on Iranian history for use in U.S. high schools and colleges. It has drawn fire from students and others who call it propaganda for the Shah of Iran.

He'd Give 'Em A Voice

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to give consumers a voice before the state agency which sets utility rates will be introduced in the state House, a lawmaker says. Rep. Jeffrey Padden, D-Wyandotte, said the measure is designed to "represent and protect the residential utility consumer in Michigan." It would create a "Utility Action Group" to give residential customers a staff of experts to appear before the state Public Service Commission and the legislature and courts as well. Padden said last month's $58 million rate increase granted Michigan Bell Telephone Co. by the PSC "is yet another example of a PSC proceeding that had less than sufficient consumer input."

Edison Bills To Rise

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Edison Co. customers will see their bills go up again today as the state Public Service Commission okayes the latest of more than $138 million in rate hikes since September. The PSC will rule on Edison's request for permission to charge another $130.6 million of its 1.7 million customers, most in the Detroit area. Edison is not expected to win more than two-thirds of what it is seeking. But the PSC also may approve a new plan to let Edison raise its rates as a reward whenever it operates its generating plants efficiently. Edison officials say they expect $94.68 million from the PSC. Senior executive vice president Ernest Grove earlier this month called that amount "inadequate" and said it would force the company to seek another major rate hike within a month.

Ferry Given New Life

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Rejecting the recommendations that a Mackinac Straits railroad ferry be docked for good, the state Highway Commission has decided to repair the boat and keep using it. The aging rail ferry Chief Wawatam, which makes a weekly trip between Michigan's two peninsulas, will be put in drydock for repairs and then returned to service. The commission, on a 4-1 vote, decided to keep the ferry despite complaints that the 66-year-old coal-fired vessel isn't worth saving and is another expensive state taxpayer can't afford. The Wawatam will be sent to drydock in Wisconsin next month for needed repairs. If it meets U.S. Coast Guard approval, the ferry can continue running until a newer, more seaworthy vessel can be found to replace it.

Scenic River Proposal

A portion of the Pere Marquette River in Michigan is among eight new Scenic Rivers proposed by President Carter in a special environmental message to Congress. Among other things, the designation would close 66 miles of the river in Lake and Mason counties to off-road vehicles such as snowmobiles and dune buggies. The ban is aimed at protecting the river from environmental damage. The Pere Marquette was the only Michigan river named in the President's environmental message. It would be included under the federal Wild and Scenic Rivers program if Carter's recommendations are followed in Congress.

CRASH VICTIM CARRIED FROM RAVINE: Elsie Spaulding, 41, Log Cagin road, Three Oaks, is carried on stretcher from ravine off Hochberger road, south of Dean's Hill road, Berrien township. Berrien sheriff's officers said Mrs. Spaulding was injured when car in which she was riding collided with a pickup truck. Officers said Mrs. Spaulding and her son-in-law, Ronald E. Diehl, 20, were on way home from Berrien

General hospital where Diehl's wife, Debra, had given birth to a daughter, when crash occurred 3 a.m. today. Mrs. Spaulding was returned to Berrien General where she was reported in guarded condition. Driver of pickup truck Russell E. Stolfo, 38, Dowagiac, was arrested on charges of reckless driving and drunk and disorderly, officers said. Stolfo and Diehl were treated and released at hospital. (Staff photo) children were freed. In response to questions, van Agt denied that food sent to the hostages and gunmen had been tampered with. Authorities have been making regular deliveries of food, water and medicines to the school. "This (illness) was exclusively an act of nature," he said.

Moluccans Free All 105 Children

The Moluccans let eight sick children leave the school between noon Thursday and early this morning. Then, just before 4 a.m. local time, authorities at the government crisis center in Assen said the militants called to say they were freeing the rest of the children they had seized as classes began Monday morning.

The release began just after 4 a.m. and took 2½ hours. Parents were held by police behind crash barriers a distance from the school.

The atmosphere was hushed except for occasional gasps as parents recognized their offspring. Many fathers and mothers have been under psychiatric care at a Red Cross center set up at the beginning of the siege. Red Cross officials say some parents were near the breaking point due to tension and lack of sleep.

The youngsters were freed in small groups and given cursory examinations by doctors. The healthy ones boarded buses that ferried them to the Red Cross center for psychiatric screening.

After the screening, some were allowed to go home. The psychiatric team also had to decide whether any of the children should go to a special center at nearby Groningen, a Red Cross official said.

State police said seven other Moluccan extremists continued to hold their hostages aboard a passenger train they hijacked Monday. Police and troops ring the train, sitting in lush farmland north of Assen.

On Thursday, the terrorists pushed a hostage onto the tracks with a noose around his neck in what appeared to be a mock execution. He was pulled back into the car 20 minutes later.

The gunmen took the train and school hostages in a bid to force the Dutch government to free 21 Moluccan extremists jailed for terrorist activity in this country. The terrorists also have demanded a jumbo jet to fly themselves and their comrades out of the country.

Van Leeuwen said the militants remained holed up in the school with the teachers, including principal Eef Van de Vliet, 35. Authorities at the crisis center said the principal had been instrumental in convincing the terrorists that the children needed medical care.

The Dutch government had refused to deal with the Moluccans until the children were freed. Van Leeuwen would not say today what effect the release would have on negotiations with the two groups of terrorists.

The terrorism stems from the militants' desire for independence for their Pacific island homeland. The South Moluccas, formerly the Spice Islands, were ruled by the Dutch for centuries but became part of Indonesia in 1949. Dutch officials have repeatedly said they have no influence in the area. Many of the 40,000 South Moluccans in The Netherlands share the militants' desire for independence.

Andy Young Keeps Pot Boiling

all I've had is praise," he said. "I'm not going to worry about what a few people say to sell newspapers."

The newspapers they were selling in Sweden on Thursday prominently displayed Young's "terrible racist" remark. One prominent Swedish editor responded that "I think we are neither better nor worse than other nations."

The remark linking Sweden and Queens was also being noticed in New York. "Incredible," retorted Donald R. Manes, president of Queens. "The residents of Queens ... have established an outstanding record of working and living together in harmony."

He suggested that all Young knew about Queens was that it was some place he has to be driven through on the way from LaGuardia Airport to the United Nations.

Not so, responded Young, who recalled having lived in Queens from 1957-61 when he was on the staff of the National Council of Churches.

Earlier during his two-week trip, Young angered South Africa's white government by suggesting economic boycotts by the black majority, and irritated black Africans by talking about negotiated solutions in Rhodesia and Namibia. During his South Africa tour, Young admitted he may have exploited his own racial identification "because there is no way I can't identify with the blacks."

"But actually, I spent far more time with whites because I think they have the problem."

Collision Injures Two Women

Benton township police reported two women were injured in a two-car collision on East Napier avenue at 1-94 Wednesday. Treated and released at Mercy hospital were Carmel Healy, 21, Route 5, Sister Lakes, police said. Driver of a second car, Alice M. Curtis, 39, 1658 Grove avenue, Benton township, sought her own treatment after the 6 a.m. accident, officers reported.

Police said autos driven by Alice Curtis and Carmel Healy collided in the westbound lanes of Napier. Carmel Healy was ticketed for failure to stop in assured clear distance, they said.

Begin To Reconsider

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Menachem Begin, faced with a growing political revolt over his choice of Moshe Dayan as foreign minister, has decided to reconsider the appointment threatening to split his Likud coalition, a spokesman said today.

The Likud spokesman said the party's executive committee would meet Sunday "to reconsider" the appointment.

The Liberal party, ranked second in the five-member Likud, or Unity, bloc met Thursday night. A spokesman said the party would "present formal opposition to Dayan's selection" at the Sunday conference.

In an apparent concession to Dayan, Begin announced Thursday he had agreed that Israel would not extend its sovereignty over the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River as long as there was a hope for peace with the Arabs.

POLICE ROUNDUP Troopers Collar Six Juvenile Boys

State police of the Benton Harbor post reported six juvenile boys have been arrested in connection with the alleged thefts of three motorcycles in Hagar township.

The boys, ranging in age from 12 to 16, have been charged with receiving and concealing stolen property. Troopers said they also were seeking a felony warrant against a 17-year-old youth. He would be tried as an adult while the juveniles will be petitioned to juvenile court, troopers said.

The arrests of the juveniles were made Wednesday and Thursday. Troopers said two allegedly stolen motorcycles were found in a field off Eaman road and another was seized at a home in Hagar township. Troopers said the motorcycles were reported stolen May 6 and 7.

Trooper Douglas Murphy said the arrests were made after a tip was received about a boy riding a motorcycle. The investigation was conducted by Murphy, Troopers Larry Squires, Diane DeWitt, and George Tiernan.

State police from the Benton Harbor post today reported the 2:45 a.m. arrest of Henry Harris, 32, Detroit, on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act after a car was stopped on I-94 near the Washington avenue overpass, St. Joseph township. Troopers said they seized "significant"

Benton township police reported Thursday a garden tractor valued at $500 was stolen from the yard of T. Dubitz, 4278 Territorial road, sometime Wednesday night.

Township officers also said kitchen cabinets and a hot water heater valued at a total of $500 were taken from the home of Leroy Waters, 126 Walnut street, sometime in the last two weeks.

Detroit Hiring 700 Officers

DETROIT (AP) — Worried about a resumption of youth gang violence, the city is hiring 700 police officers to bring the force to record strength. They will begin a crash training program next week, Mayor Coleman Young said. "The youth gangs which ran rampant last summer have adopted new tactics, I understand," Young said. "Well, we have changed our tactics too, and we'll be waiting for them." He did not say what tactical innovations the city had adopted. "We plan to have all the new officers on the streets by midsummer. That's where they are going to be assigned — the streets," Young said.

Paper Firm Ending Waste Odor Soon

By STEVE McQUOWN
Staff Writer

WATERVLIET — A $500,000 system to deodorize industrial waste waters will be put into operation sometime early next month, officials of Watervliet Paper Co. have announced.

Under the new system, odor-causing clay particles will be removed from the waters before the water is piped a mile east of the company for spraying on a 90-acre irrigation system field.

George Lawton, head of the company's engineering department, said that "...in the near future, when the new system becomes 100 per cent operational, the odor problem will be eliminated."

The company spent a reported $1 million in 1972 and 1973 to build the 90-acre spray irrigation system as a means for getting rid of waste waters from production of paper products.

Prior to that, it had been dumping the waters into the Paw Paw river.

But in 1975, people living near the 90-acre field began complaining of odors "like raw sewage" coming from the field.

R.G. Osborne, paper company president, said the firm discovered that clay particles suspended in the waste water clogged the soils in the irrigation field, preventing proper drainage and creating standing pools of water that produced odors in hot weather.

The company has continued to pipe the clay-filled and odor-causing waters to the irrigation field while developing its new, state-approved system to deodorize the waters.

Under the new system, Lawton said, by using chemicals and aerating the waste water under pressure, 92 per cent of the solids will be collected at the water's surface at the plant and will be skimmed off before the waters are piped to the irrigation fields. The solids will be transported to a Watervliet area landfill, he added.

The Watervliet Paper Co. is a subsidiary of Parsons & Whittemore, Inc., which has its headquarters in New York.

Papers produced at the Watervliet plant are coated for high quality printing jobs such as labels and advertising brochures.

Negotiation Strategy Discussed

SOUTH HAVEN — The city council here met behind closed doors last night to discuss strategy for the next negotiation session with members of the Independent Municipal Employees Union of South Haven.

The council first met in a special session and voted unanimously to go into executive session to review plans.

The contract with the union expired April 15. A mediator was brought in earlier this week after the union threatened to strike.

Most non-economic issues were settled in the meeting earlier this week, while another meeting has been scheduled for June 2, to hash out economic matters.

Camping Sites Filling Up

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

All but six of Lower Michigan's state park campgrounds are expected to be filled by Saturday morning as Memorial Day campers take advantage of one of Michigan's hottest springs on record. A check Wednesday by the Michigan Auto Club indicated campers would best try East Michigan and Upper Peninsula campgrounds for vacancies. The state has about 70,000 campsites, half of them at private facilities. Largest crowds are forecast for West Michigan, where the AAA predicts some of the 20 state park campgrounds would be filled by Thursday evening.

Berrien county's unemployment rate was 7.7 per cent in April — the lowest since October, 1974, when 6.4 per cent of the labor force was unemployed.

The Michigan Employment Security commission reported April employment in Berrien totaled 68,300 — the most since October, 1974, when 68,500 were working.

The unemployment rate in Berrien has dropped every month this year. December was the last month with a double digit unemployment rate.

MESC reported total Berrien employment gained 1,200 over March and 3,500 over April, 1976. Biggest increase last month from March by business was in retail trade with 400 new jobs as hiring for a new J.C. Penney store in Niles was a contributing factor. Construction went up 200 as did service jobs.

Manufacturing industries showed a net gain of 100 workers last month with five classifications reporting increases, three decreases in employment and nine no change.

Government employment held steady at 8,700.

April's rise in employment was accompanied by an increase in the labor force whose total was 75,100 compared to 74,900 in March and 74,000 in April, 1976.

State Eyes Cause Of Home Fire

PAW PAW — Representatives of the state fire marshal's office here this morning were investigating the cause of a fire which extensively damaged a house about two miles west of here Thursday afternoon.

Paw Paw Fire Chief Norman Pfeifle said the 4:18 p.m. blaze caused the roof and ceiling to fall in at the home of William Valentine on 40th street, south of Red Arrow highway. He said the fire was reported by a neighbor.

Pfeifle said no one was home at the time of the fire. He said the house was insured and estimated damage at about $25,000.

Rushing To File

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an abrupt turnabout, thousands of institutions are rushing to file pledges that they won't discriminate against women.

In February, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare warned the 20,000 schools and colleges receiving federal money that they could lose the aid unless they promised to comply with federal sex-discrimination laws.

Bell Calls Fired D.A. An 'Anarchist'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Griffin B. Bell says the U.S. attorney in Detroit, who defied tradition and refused to resign with the change in administration, is an anarchist.

"The question was whether he or I was going to be the attorney general," Bell said Thursday of Philip Van Dam, a Republican who was fired by President Carter.

At a Capitol Hill news conference, Bell said Van Dam was fired mainly because "we had an election last year and the Democrats won."

Van Dam, appointed last year by former President Gerald R. Ford, had refused to make the customary offer to resign with the change in administration.

The 34-year-old U.S. attorney called Carter a hypocrite after receiving the President's terse letter of dismissal Wednesday. Van Dam contended that by demanding his resignation, Carter was reneging on a campaign promise to remove politics from the Justice Department. He said the job should go to the most qualified person, regardless of political persuasion.

Asked whether he was not obliged to evaluate Van Dam's performance before firing him, Bell responded: "Why should I evaluate a fellow who is an anarchist?"

The Justice Department has recommended that Carter nominate James K. Robinson, a Detroit lawyer and a Democrat, to replace Van Dam.

Bell said the day may come when the appointments of U.S. attorneys are removed from political patronage and the office professionalized.

"We are doing the best we can," he said.

Tigers Hope Bird's Return Makes Them Contender

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Mark "The Bird" Fidrych may be the missing ingredient needed to get the Detroit Tigers into the thick of the American League East race.

For weeks the Tigers have appeared on the verge of jelling. But if they are to make any kind of move this baseball season, pitching ace Fidrych will have to be the catalyst.

If Fidrych can come anywhere near his phenomenal 1976 rookie performance, Detroit should get in the thick of things.

The Bird gets his first regular season test tonight when he is scheduled to pitch against Glen Abbott (1-4) in the Tigers' first game against the expansion Seattle Mariners. A near capacity crowd of close to 50,000 is anticipated.

Fidrych, who had knee surgery March 31 and came off the injured list Tuesday, pitched well in relief last week in an exhibition game at Cincinnati.

"He's ready to go nine innings," Manager Ralph Houk said.

More than his ability to win, Fidrych brings to the Tigers a contagious enthusiasm. His teammates are almost certain to be looser and perhaps more determined now.

Until Detroit ran into two of the game's finest pitchers, California's Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana on Tuesday and Wednesday, the Tigers appeared ready to put things all together.

Rookie Dave Rozema has pitched superbly all season and should have better than a 4-1 record. Rookie left fielder Steve Kemp is beginning to live up to expectations as a fine hitter. Jason Thompson leads the team in runs-batted-in. Rookie Phil Mankowski has been superb as a replacement at third base for the injured Aurelio Rodriguez.

Rookie outfielder Tim Lincecum has impressed in only a week of service. Fernando Arroyo has moved from the bullpen to the starting rotation with great results. Steve Foucault has taken the burden off John Hiller in the bullpen and Hiller promptly was freed to become a fifth starter.

Tito Fuentes has filled the hole at second both defensively and with consistent hitting.

Some elements have yet to come around, most notably the play of shortstop Tom Verzer and Mark Wagner, the bat of designated hitter Rusty Staub and the play of center fielder Ron Lettore.

Does Houk believe the return of Fidrych will be the key factor in heading Detroit towards the top of the standings?

"I let you guys write all that stuff," Houk told reporters. "I'm just glad Mark's ready to start again."

Fidrych was the AL Rookie of the Year last season with a 19-9 record and league-leading 2.34 earned-run-average.

Is the 22-year-old right-hander worried about his debut?

"Not anymore," he said. "Your first year you worry. I've got a three-year contract. Why should I worry?"

Is he perhaps more nervous in this debut than his first game last year?

"You don't get nervous," the colorful 22-year-old said. "You get ambunctious."

A teammate walking by asked, "What was that word?"

"Ambunctious! Ambunctious!" The Bird insisted.

76ers Bomb Blazers

Philadelphia Proving Critics Wrong

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — They're playing defense, they're passing the ball, they're setting up the open man — the Philadelphia 76ers are doing their best to ruin their reputations.

"People put us down all the time," said playmaker Henry Bibby. "They say we're a bunch of one-on-one players, we can't play team ball, we don't execute our plays well, we can't do the job on defense."

"They keep saying it — but we keep winning."

Bibby was the sparkplug in Philadelphia's lopsided 107-89 triumph over the Portland Trail Blazers Thursday night, a victory which gave the 76ers a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series. The series resumes Sunday at Portland.

Bibby scored 15 points and handed out six assists in the first half, when the 76ers took an 18-point lead with a racehorse offense and shacking defense. Portland never was really in the game after being outscored 30-17 in the second period, and came no closer than 12 points in the second half.

The game was marred by a fourth-quarter melee which saw both squads engage in a free-for-all and about 100 spectators join in. The main combatants were Darryl Dawkins of Philadelphia and Maurice Lucas of Portland, two of the heaviest of heavyweights, both of whom were ejected. The only casualty was Philadelphia guard Doug Collins, who tried to act as peacemaker and got socked by Dawkins for his effort.

The game itself was overshadowed, as Collins led the 76ers with 27 points and Julius Erving had 20. Philadelphia led 31-26 after the first quarter, then broke it open in the second period by hitting 13 of 24 shots while limiting Portland to just six of 27. It was 61-43 at the half and really no contest after that.

As in the series opener, won by Philadelphia 107-101, the 76ers' defensive discipline was a key factor. The 76ers shut off Portland's fast break, then took away the Blazers' inside game, forcing them to take shots from the perimeter instead. And Portland is not a good perimeter shooting team.

"A lot of people think that we're a bunch of renegades," said Erving. "They think that a good, well-drilled team can run us apart. We are trying to prove them wrong."

"Portland is very singular in its offensive strategy. There is one basic play they like to run 75 per cent of the time — they set up Walton in the pivot and then try to free their cutters for layups. We know this, we've drilled against it and we've been able to stop it. We've forced them to do things they don't want to do, like shoot from outside."

Indeed, early in the first half, when the game still was up for grabs, Portland was able to get only one basket off its pet play of center Bill Walton feeding a cutter for a layup.

Walton led the Blazers with 17 points and 18 rebounds, but never was a dominating force. As a team, Portland, forced out of its normal patterns, shot a dismal 35.6 per cent, including 7-for-19 by Lucas and 6-for-18 by Lionel Hollins.

READY, SET, GO: Portland Trail Blazers' Dave Twardzik and Philadelphia 76ers' Doug Collins strike similar poses as they turn to chase loose ball Thursday night in second game of National Basketball Association playoff series at Philadelphia. (AP Wirephoto)

Dallas Cowboys Make Dorsett A Millionaire

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry says there is no need to draft the top player if a team is not willing to pay him a high salary, and newly signed Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett is a millionaire because of the Cowboys' willingness.

Dorsett, who led the University of Pittsburgh to college football's national championship last season, Thursday signed a contract reportedly worth more than $1 million.

"I'm thrilled about the whole idea," said Dorsett. "Like I said at the (National Football League) draft (of college players), I was overwhelmed to be selected by the Cowboys. To make it official makes it all the more pleasing."

Dorsett will be the first million-dollar player in the Cowboys' history.

As for Dorsett's instant wealth, Landry said, "I don't think it'll bother the other people on our club because paying the high salaries is so common in this era."

Dorsett signed the contract in the Pittsburgh office of his attorney, Harvey Eger, while his agent Mike Trope and Cowboys vice-president Gil Brandt watched.

Neither the Cowboys nor Dorsett would discuss terms of the contract. But Trope said Dorsett "got what I consider a fair market value. Tony got an excellent contract and the Cowboys got an excellent player."

Earlier, Trope had negotiated a multi-year, $1.2 million contract for Southern California star Ricky Bell with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"I am not going to say that Dorsett's contract is above or below Bell's contract," Trope said, adding that the five-year figure for the duration of the contract "was in the neighborhood."

Dorsett was drafted by the Cowboys after a deal in which Dallas sent four high draft choices to the Seattle Seahawks.

Dorsett said he hoped his speed would help him get a starting job with the Cowboys next season.

"... if they want a running back, maybe that will help me. I don't know what they are looking for in the way of offense, but I think I can contribute something."

"I am optimistic."

The Cowboys' longest run from scrimmage last year was 24 yards.

Dorsett said the Cowboys also were gaining a large group of fans in Pittsburgh — "my family and friends. It used to be that Pittsburgh was our No. 1 team and then the Cowboys, but now it is Dallas first."

Asked the first thing he would do with the money, Dorsett said, "Buy my mother a house. I want to make my parents secure financially."

'Cheap' Free Agents Keying Sox

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The best things in life are free ... free agents who did not cost millions of dollars and in some cases are producing more than those who did.

For example, Bill Vecek of the Chicago White Sox probably did not have to dip beyond petty cash to sign Boyle Stillman. Steve Stone, Eric Soderholm and Tim Nordbrook, who have had plenty to do with the Sox' surprising second-place standing in the American League West.

The financially strapped Vecek settled for that quartet because he could not afford such big names as Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi, Don Gullett, etc. You don't hear him complaining, do you?

Certainly not after Thursday's 4-3 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers in which Stone and Stillman played prominent parts. Stone pitched seven strong innings for his fourth consecutive victory while Stillman doubled home one run and scored another as the Sox took a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning. Soderholm and Nordbrook did not get into the game but are hitting .315 and .300, respectively.

The Sox' success was the only game in the American League. In the National, the Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Houston Astros 4-3 in 10 innings, the San Francisco Giants edged the Cincinnati Reds 6-5, the Chicago Cubs nipped the Montreal Expos 1-0, the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 10 innings and the Atlanta Braves whipped the San Diego Padres 8-3.

Los Angeles boosted its lead in the NL West to 12½ games over the world champion Reds when Dusty Baker's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the 10th inning scored pinch runner Lee Lacy. Ron Cey led off the 10th with a walk off Ken Forsch, and one out later, Rick Monday singled him to third. Lacy raced home on Baker's fly to short right.

Terry Whitfield's fourth hit of the game, a single in the eighth inning, drove home Vic Harris with the winning run. The Giants lost starting pitcher John Montefusco, who suffered a badly sprained left ankle running out a bunt in the second inning, but got effective relief pitching in winning their fourth straight game.

Gary Lavelle, who has pitched in all four victories, was the winner while Randy Moffitt earned a save.

Rookie right-hander Mike Krukow hurled a four-hitter for his first major league shutout and complete game and even scored the only run when Bobby Murcer drew a bases-loaded walk from Steve Rogers with two out in the sixth inning.

Dave Rader's two-out single in the ninth inning tied the score and Garry Templeton's run-scoring two-out single off second baseman Ted Sizemore's glove in the 10th won it. Templeton's hit followed a leadoff double by Tony Scott and two walks, which loaded the bases.

Tom Paciorek hit a tie-breaking two-run homer in the fifth inning and Jeff Burroughs clouted another two-run shot in the sixth. Meanwhile, Andy Messersmith pitched seven innings and stopped the Padres on four hits.

Radde, Koch Pace Trinity

Don Radde and Steve Koch pounded three hits each and Rich Kaatz took the win as Trinity ripped Grace 12-3 Thursday night in a St. Joseph Church league game. Pesko knocked three hits for the losers.

Christ Lutheran downed Zion with Bill Brege hitting a homer and Dave Kasewurm getting three hits. Johnson had four hits for Zion.

4-1 Odds Foyt, Unser Rated Favorites At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt, in his 10th try for a record fourth victory, and Al Unser, who walked away from a brush with death last weekend, rate as co-favorites in Sunday's 81st running of the Indianapolis 500.

In the annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and news-men following carburetion tests Thursday, Foyt and the younger Unser brother were paired off at 4-1 odds.

The poll also gave a rookie, Danny Ongais, the best odds for any first-year driver in many years at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Fifteen drivers in the 33-car lineup were given odds of 10-1 or better, a reflection on the number of new cars in the race.

Foyt, who poll members think may be closer to an important decision concerning his future than other people might think, is considered the best prepared driver in the field, even though he has spent less time at Indy this month than any other driver.

Unser, who plowed into the wall at 215 miles per hour last Saturday, should find improved

Bangor Bumped In KVA

PARCHEMENT — Rod Alton singled in the winning run in the last of the seventh as Parchment edged Bangor 9-8 Thursday in a KVA baseball game.

The winners grabbed a 7-0 lead in the first inning. Bangor fought back with five runs in the third on three walks, and singles by Earl Borden, Tim Gargus and Doug Watkins.

The Vikings took an 8-7 edge with three runs in the fifth on a walk, two errors and a single by Borden.

But Parchment tied the game with a tally in the sixth and won it with Alton's hit in the seventh.

Bangor, now 6-6 in the KVA and 9-9 overall, got just four hits. But the Vikings also received eight walks and took advantage of five Parchment errors.

Bangor travels to Decatur for a pre-district game at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Boileau Good Coach After All Nordiques WHA Champs!

QUEBEC (AP) — Marc Boileau still was dripping from the traditional trip to the showers after his Quebec Nordiques whipped the Winnipeg Jets 8-2 in the seventh game of the World Hockey Association final playoff series Thursday night and won their first league title.

"I think this will prove to people in the National Hockey League that I wasn't such a bad coach after all," said Boileau, puffing on a cigar.

Boileau was fired as coach of the NHL's Pittsburgh Penguins before the end of the 1973-74 season, but now has taken Quebec to a league championship in his first attempt.

"Maurice Filion, the general manager who gave me the job, leaves me alone to do it," said Boileau. "And he always backs me up."

A solid team effort also backed up Boileau in the decisive game as eight Nordiques — Bob Fitchner, Marc Tardif, Real Cloutier, Jean-Claude Tremblay, Normand Dube, Paulin Bordeleau, Christian Bordeleau and Serge Bernier — each scored once.

Dan Labraaten and Perry

Miller tallied for the Jets, last year's WHA champions.

But Boileau said the game may have been decided before the Nordiques' six-goal second period outburst that shocked Winnipeg.

"The important thing as far as we were concerned was the first period," Boileau said. "I thought if the Jets scored one or two goals in the first period it would have been a very different game. But the floodgates opened — we have a very explosive hockey team."

The Jets, who had a 12-7 edge in shots in the first 20 minutes, did not lack for scoring chances, but Nordiques' goaltender Richard Brodeur stopped everything.

The Nordiques then jumped on Jets netminder Joe Daley in the second period, with Fitchner and Tardif scoring early goals within 1:10.

"The first goal was a big mistake," said Winnipeg Coach Bobby Kramm. "We had control of the game to that point. Then the Nordiques capitalized on that first mistake, just into the second period and got another goal 59 seconds later. We were down too far too fast."

Kramm said the Jets might still have had a chance after Cloutier scored for Quebec and Labraaten pulled the Jets within 3-1.

"I couldn't believe what happened, but the capper was Quebec's fourth goal, which really took the wind out of our sails."

It was a drop shot by Tremblay from outside the blue line that eluded Daley.

"I've practiced it all year," said Tremblay, "but I guess this was the first time I did it in a game."

The Nordiques made it 6-1 by the end of the period on goals by Dube and Paulin Bordeleau and coasted in the third period.

Bernier, whose goal was his 14th of the playoffs, tying a record set by Cloutier earlier in the game, added two assists for a record total of 22 assists and 36 points, another mark. He was accorded a standing ovation from 11,461 fans at the Coliseum when it was announced, three minutes before the game ended, that he had been named the most valuable player of the playoffs.

Baseball Firm Believer In Recycling Its Managers

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

If you're interested in job security, become a janitor or a shoe salesman. Don't become a major league manager.

Big league managers seem to get pink slips about as often they sign contracts. They all seem to get fired one time or another, except Walter Alston. He left the Dodgers last year after 23 seasons. His neck was still intact.

But the lineup bosses shouldn't really fret because baseball is ecologically concerned. The national pastime believes in recycling its managers.

Of the 26 current managers, 15 of them have signed some other team's lineup cards. Just because a manager wasn't good enough for one club doesn't mean he won't be magic for another.

So if Frank Robinson gets fired by the Cleveland Indians, as the rumor goes, chances are good that some other team will start paying his check. When Robinson became baseball's first black manager in 1975, he expected to become the first one fired.

If Robinson's team wins, he's a good manager. But since the Indians are losing, his credentials are being questioned.

It's that simple.

"My philosophy is that it's not the manager or the coach that makes the players; it's the horses that make the manager," says Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, who is baseball's leader in managerial firings.

Since Finley brought his A's franchise to the Bay Area in 1968, the cantankerous owner has had seven different managers, including Alvin Dark and Hank Bauer, who both were Finley's managers once before in Kansas City.

Since 1968, the Chicago White Sox have had seven managers and California, San Francisco and Philadelphia each have had six. None of those clubs, however, was a consistent winner like Oakland.

Finley, who is said to pull the strings of his managers, says he runs a finishing school in Oakland. "I sort of polish my managers off for somebody else," he says.

That was never truer than when Finley pulled one of the shrewdest baseball deals of all time, trading his 1976 manager, Chuck Tanner, to Pittsburgh for catcher Manny Sanguillen and $100,000.

"Chuckie boy's a good manager, but no manager is worth $100,000 and a starting catcher. Good managers are a dime a dozen. Starting catchers are harder to find."

One manager Finley didn't fire was Dick Williams, who guided the A's to consecutive World Series in 1972 and 1973. Williams, tired of ownership meddling, quit after the 1973 season. He was picked up by California in the middle of 1974, and the Angels went on a lengthy losing streak.

Last season, Williams was fired by the Angels, a last-placed team in 1974 and 1975. This year, Williams manages the Montreal Expos, who just snapped an 11-game losing streak and are near the bottom of the National League East standings.

Obviously, Williams is just as good a manager now as he was with the A's and the Boston Red Sox in 1967, the year they won the American League pennant.

Ace Lifts Graham Into Share Of Lead

ATLANTA (AP) — Australian David Graham has his theory about how much a hole-in-one helps a golfer during a round.

"If you are six over par, I don't think it does that much for you," he said. "You can play one hole and you make a big jump."

Graham made a big jump Thursday when he wedged his tee shot into the cup on the 135-yard, par-three 13th hole.

and bolted into a share of the lead in the storm-delayed opening round of the $200,000 Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament with a four-under-par 68.

He was tied with three others at that figure — Mac McLendon, Dave Eichelberger and John Schroeder — while 57 other competitors were forced to complete their round today when lightning forced suspension at 5:26 p.m., EDT. Thursday and an ultimate postponement 78 minutes later.

Three players stood at four under when play was stopped — former U.S. Open champion Lou Graham and defending champion Hale Irwin, each with three holes left, and PGA champ Dave Stockton, with one hole to go.

At three under were Jerry McGee, with two to play, and Tommy Aaron, with one hole remaining.

One shot off the pace were Gary McCord and Duke Butler, each with 69s over the hilly terrain of the 6,883-yard Atlanta Country Club course, while Jack Nicklaus headed a group at 70 that included Steve Veriato, Don Baker, Orville Moody, DeWitt Weaver, Bob Eastwood, Alan Tapie and Lon Hinkle.

"I was just coasting along and the next minute I'm four under," Graham said of the ace. "It hit about eight feet above the hole. It had a little juice on it. It just sucked back in the hole."

HOLE IN HIS BAT: Joe Martino of Brooklyn, N.Y., demonstrates his "hole in the bat" invention. The object of the hole is to permit the ball to pass through the bat, indicating that the batter would have made perfect contact if the hole in the bat was not there. (AP Wirephoto)

NFL Has Second Hillsdale Kicker

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — After Hillsdale's Chester Marcol was drafted by the National Football League's Green Bay Packers, he helped them to a National Conference Central Division title in 1971 by leading the league in scoring.

It's five years later now and a different Central Division, but the American Conference Cincinnati Bengals hope another kicker from Hillsdale College — Bob Bialik — can help them to a title.

The record-setting punter was tabbed by the Bengals in the 10th round of the recent NFL draft.

Bialik is the first Charger to be drafted since Marcol went in the second round six years ago, although back Archie Robinson and line man Mark Law received free-agent tryouts. Bialik has a better shot than most 10th-round choices to make his team, since punting has been an Achilles heel for Cincinnati for some time.

"I couldn't ask for anything better," an elated Bialik said. "I'm going to a good team, a contender, plus one that needs a punter."

The last part was an important consideration for Bialik. "Atlanta had called ... and told me I wouldn't be drafted," he said. "They offered me a free agent contract, but I knew Atlanta had Jeff James, a Pro Bowl punter."

"Well, I didn't want to go anywhere where I would be just pushing a veteran. I wanted to go to a team that needed punting help and could use me, so I turned the Falcons' offer down."

He said the call later from Cincinnati "caught me by surprise. They were the first team to show any interest in me three years ago, but there were other teams that showed more interest in me, like Dallas, Seattle, Atlanta and Pittsburgh. The Bengals sent me letters, but they didn't show as active an interest as the others."

One team, the Steelers, thought so highly of Bialik that they sent Coach Chuck Noll and four assistants to watch Bialik play.

Bialik was the third kicker taken in the draft following Ohio State's Tom Skladany, who went to Cleveland in the second round, and Mark Michel of

Suit Is Dismissed Against Olympia II

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A judge has foiled a Detroit effort to block construction of a new $18 million hockey arena that would move the Detroit Red Wings to the suburbs.

Oakland County Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn dismissed a lawsuit brought by the city of Detroit which claimed that a state law was being twisted to "pirate" jobs and tax revenue from Detroit.

Olympia II, the proposed new home of the National Hockey League club, would be built in Pontiac Township.

Red Wings management has indicated eagerness to leave the team's current home, the aging, red-brick Olympia Stadium not far from downtown Detroit.

Detroit's suit contended Pontiac Township officials were misusing the 1974 Economic Development Act to help lure the team from the city.

Under the act, Pontiac Township established an economic development corporation which can sell tax-free revenue bonds to finance the arena and then lease the facility to the Opdyke Investment Co., owner of the 50-acre site.

Judge Thorburn said in dismissing the suit Wednesday Detroit had not proven the Economic Development Act could not be used by one community to entice business away from another.

The city of Detroit, meanwhile, moved forward with plans for an arena of its own on the riverfront. The city council approved two procedures for a bond sale to finance the facility.

The city council also authorized paying attorney Bruce A. Miller up to $30,000 "to investigate the propriety of Pontiac Township using (the state program) to enrich private interests."

'Strong Evidence' In Trial

DETROIT (AP) — A doctor whose medical detective work brought the FBI to the Ann Arbor Veterans Hospital says her tests proved conclusively that three patients who suffered sudden breathing failures had been injected with a paralyzing drug, Dr. Anne Hill, former chief anesthesiologist at the VA hospital, said muscle reaction tests she performed on three men who had just stopped breathing proved they had been given a paralyzing drug. Her conclusion was confirmed, she said, when the men responded after being treated with an antidote that counteracts the effects of such drugs. Dr. Hill's testimony came this week in the eight-week-old trial of nurses Filipina Narciso, 30, and Leonora Perez, 32. The nurses are charged with killing two patients and poisoning seven others at the VA hospital during the summer of 1975. The testimony was perhaps the strongest evidence so far to back up the government's contention that the two nurses injected Pavulon, a powerful paralyzing drug, into patients.

Hartford Memorial Parade Begins At 10 A.M. Monday

HARTFORD — The Memorial Day parade here begins at 10 a.m. Monday, from Red Arrow elementary school, according to Eddie Szwedzyk, commander of the American Legion post which is sponsoring the Memorial Day observance.

He said the parade will follow a route west on Main street to Pioneer Memorial cemetery for a brief ceremony, and then retrace its steps to Ely park for the main program.

The senior and junior bands from the Hartford schools, the award-winning Hartford Blossomtime float, the Gold Star Mothers, Scouts, the American Legion and other area groups will march in the parade, Szwedzyk said.

Parade units are to form at the school at 9:30 a.m., he said.

New Slant On Stolen Goods

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Saying prosecutors can't prove people knowingly receive stolen goods, a state lawmaker has introduced a bill putting the burden of proof on the recipient of the hot items.

Sen. Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, said it's highly unlikely a person who gets a terrific deal on merchandise doesn't realize it's been stolen. Present law, he noted, says the person buying or receiving stolen property is guilty of a crime only if he knows it is stolen.

And that, says DeGrow, is hard to prove. His bill would establish the presumption that the persons knew the goods were stolen unless he could justify otherwise. He said that would put teeth in the law and dry up the stolen goods market.

AMC'S CAR OF FUTURE: American Motors Thursday unveiled six unique concept cars to be shown in seven major cities to illustrate what company sees as future trends in smaller, fuel-efficient automobiles for 1980's. AMC Pins Hope On Small Cars

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic small cars will likely account for up to 50 per cent of all new car sales in the 1980s, thus ensuring a future for small-car specialist American Motors, the chairman of the No. 4 automaker says.

"To be able to fish in a pond of six million (new small cars) instead of two million is infinitely better," Roy D. Chapin Jr. said Thursday as AMC previewed a display of experimental design cars for the 1980s.

Chapin predicted the domestic small-car market will triple or quadruple in the next few years. He said domestic small cars likely will take 60 to 80 per cent of new-car sales in the 1980s, with minicars — most of them imports — and domestic large cars each taking another 20 to 25 per cent.

Chapin also disputed reports that the firm, which is in the midst of a severe two-year car slump, may abandon the car business by 1980.

"We have absolutely no intention of going out of the passenger car business," he declared. "Obviously we are concerned with our sales slump... We are living through a difficult period."

"But we have new opportunities and we hope to be good enough and smart enough to take advantage of them."

The Associated Press reported three weeks ago the consensus from interviews with two dozen auto executives and financial analysts was that AMC likely would drop out of the car business by 1980. The reason was that since the Midwest oil embargo of 1973, tremendous competition has emerged in the small-car market, with the other domestic makers and foreign imports taking sales away from AMC.

"No doubt there is going to be a lot of competition," Chapin said. "But for years we've been facing tough competition, and in a market much smaller than what is on the horizon."

He said sales of domestic subcompact and compact cars since 1972 have ranged from 2 million to 2.7 million a year. "Within a few years we'll see a small-car market maybe three or four times that — 8 to 9 million," he said. "This is where we are strongest."

He said the industry and public inevitably will move toward, smaller, lighter and more fuel efficient vehicles to conserve energy.

He conceded that his firm's share of the domestic small-car market will fall from a current 5 to 8 per cent. But even half of that share in a six million car market is an improvement, he said.

CanAmer Arts Deadline June 1

CanAmer Games, Inc., has set a June 1 deadline for Berrien county residents to enter its art, photography and essay contests, according to Mrs. John (Betty) Valantiejus, of New Buffalo, chairman of the cultural events contests.

The first place winner in each age division will be invited to go to Canada for the CanAmer Games Aug. 12, 13, and 14, according to Mrs. Valantiejus. Three places will be awarded in each age division, she said.

Art will be judged in two divisions, junior high school and high school. The theme, "Our American Wilderness," may be represented in either drawings or paintings, mounted for hanging.

The photography theme, "Berrien Youth in Action," is open to high school students only. Entries should be submitted in black and white.

There are two levels for judging essay entries, 9 through 13 years of age, and 14 through 18 years of age. The theme is the same as the art event, "Our American Wilderness," and entries are limited to 500 words.

The association is composed of all classes that graduated 25 or more years ago. Members of classes from 1952 back are invited, according to Radom.

The judge of the art entries will be Juniata Cupp, member of the Berrien County Art Guild. The photographic entry judge is Lee Warnock, of Photography, Inc., Benton Harbor, and the essay judge is Arlys Derrick, women's editor of The Herald-Palladium.

Entries must be filed by June 1 with Elaine Weckler, Berrien Intermediate School District, Berrien Springs; or CanAmer Games, Lake Michigan College, Suite C-103, Benton Harbor.

Harry Priebe Will Filed For Probate

A petition has been filed in Berrien Probate court seeking to admit to probate the estimated $500,000 estate of Harry Priebe.

Priebe, of 450 Ridgeway, St. Joseph, died Feb. 16 at age 73. He was a founder of Priebe Brothers Oil Company and later founder of Priebe Transport and Priebe Enterprises, Inc.

According to Probate court documents, Priebe left half of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Verna Mae Priebe. The other half was put in trust, with his wife as trustee. Income from the trust will go to their daughter, Mrs. Nancy Marzke, St. Joseph, and her five children.

While the Priebe estate is estimated at $500,000, only a partial inventory of assets is included in the court record. It lists stocks in 11 enterprises, a bank account and other personal effects valued at a total of $63,551.

Also in Probate court, the estate of Mrs. Theresa Angelo, widow of the late Tony Angelo, Sr., has been admitted to probate. She died March 31. Her estate is estimated at $80,000.

She willed $1,000 to St. John's Catholic church, Benton Harbor, of which she was a member; $1,000 to be used for the poor of the world by the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, in New York; $1,000 to a sister, Anna Pica of Benton Harbor; personal effects to two daughters and the remainder of the estate to her seven living children and two grandsons.

Firm Agrees To Payment

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Grand Rapids firm has agreed to pay $5,000 into the state's fish and game protection fund to avoid being sued by the state for failing to obtain an air pollution control permit. Steelcase, Inc., is building a new plant slated to go into operation in a month. But the state ordered construction halted because the company had not obtained a permit as required by law. The company agreed to seek a permit or legal waiver, and to make a $5,000 payment as part of the settlement, the state said.

CITIZENS AIR GRIPEs BY PHONE Hotlines Fill A Growing Need

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Every week thousands of Americans call the government to register complaints or ask for information.

Federal Information Centers scattered around the country handle the lion's share of the calls, but toll-free lines bringing in calls from across the country to a single location also have mushroomed in recent years.

The Federal Information Centers, started in Atlanta in 1966, seek to answer taxpayers' questions and direct people through a maze of government to the agency that can best help them.

Don Krenlein of the General Services Administration, which operates the centers, says they help bring service closer to the public.

Just over half of the nation's population now has toll-free access to these centers, through local telephone numbers in most major cities.

to call free, either with more centers or through WATS lines — wide area telephone service.

Last year, Krenlein said, the centers handled 4.5 million calls and dealt with nearly three million people who came to the centers, which have a budget of $2.8 million this year.

While the centers concentrate on providing local services, many federal agencies have taken another tack. Using the WATS service, in which callers dial area code 800 and don't have to pay for the long-distance call, they serve most of the country from a single location.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission operates one of the busiest of these "hotline" services.

A commission spokeswoman says use of the service varies depending on what is in the news. In the month after the commission banned the chemical Tris from children's sleepwear, the hotline handled 10,000 calls.

This operation is budgeted at $60,000 and is seeking $80,000 for next year to expand its service. It answers queries from the public about dangerous products, takes complaints and sends out information.

Calculating total government costs for the hotlines in service is complicated by budgets that don't separate the service from other items.

However, a spokesman for the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. says a full-service WATS line serving the 48 contiguous states costs $1,615 a month for 240 hours of use, plus $4.65 an hour over 240 hours.

A measured-time service providing 10 hours of use costs $245 a month, plus $18.38 for each extra hour, he said.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development operates three hotlines.

The Flood Insurance Hotline handles up to 300 calls on a busy day, a spokesman says, but the volume varies considerably depending on the season.

A hotline providing details on the federal crime insurance program, allowing people to apply for the insurance by phone, will handle 200 calls on a busy day.

The housing discrimination hotline averages about 60 calls a day, he says but jumps to 200 at peak periods.

People with questions and complaints about auto safety barrage the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration hotline with 200 to 300 calls a day, a spokesman says.

After a news story about the hotline last fall the eight operators on duty handled 700 calls a day for a while.

The Interstate Commerce Commission estimates it handles 150 to 175 calls a week on a hotline for complaints about interstate movers.

A new addition to the field is the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, which opened a hotline last December to offer guidance to persons considering future purchases.

Virginia Brunini, who set up the service, says it was promptly deluged with calls. About 6,500 have been handled so far.

If everyone who called had gotten through, she says, the total would have been 10,000. The CFTC is now setting up a second hotline in San Francisco to ease the burden on the Washington office.

Teens' Parents Sue Consumers Power

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The parents of two Lawrence teenagers who were electrocuted in 1975 when they walked into a downed power line, have filed suit in Van Buren circuit court against Consumers Power company.

In separate but identical complaints, Vera Skinner, mother of Clifford Rader, and J.H. Crawford, the father of Sheila Crawford, are seeking damages to compensate them for the loss of their children. Both suits ask damages of $700,000 in each of three counts. The suits allege the two 18-year-olds were walking in a wooded area near 52nd street in Lawrence township about 11 p.m. the night of May 21, 1975, when they stepped on a downed 4,800 volt power line and were electrocuted.

The suits claim the line had been knocked down by a storm about 2:30 p.m., and that despite the fact that the damage had been reported to Consumers, the company took no action to repair it.

The utility company, according to the suit, also failed to provide the line with an automatic shutoff device which would have cut the power when the line fell, the suit said.

DWARFS WON'T NEED SUPPORTS

Better Rootstocks Coming

The MAC-9 dwarfing rootstock shows signs of being one of the best of the new Michigan Apple Clone dwarf rootstocks being developed by Dr. Robert F. Carlson, of the Michigan State University department of horticulture.

"It certainly looks excellent now," Dr. Carlson said, referring to the MAC-9 rootstock. "It will probably take another two years to tell for sure, depending on how rapid and successful the clone development is."

Dr. Carlson's research is aimed at developing a dwarf tree without the problems common to the smaller trees, such as lack of winter-hardiness and need for support. Most of the series originated from pollination with Malling rootstocks, one of the most widely used rootstock series.

The MAC-9 is the most dwarfing of the series and was selected from open pollinated seedlings of Malling 9 rootstock, which grows to about nine feet at maturity. Carlson said the MAC-9 will grow about a foot taller, but will have a much better root system allowing it to stand without staking or trellising. With controlled pruning, the trees should be able to be picked entirely from the ground, according to Carlson.

"A good root system would greatly increase the interest in this size tree," says Carlson.

Until now, Carlson said, dwarf rootstocks have come from England by way of Canada. The rootstock from England is not considered totally adaptable to growing conditions in North America.

"The qualities we are trying to develop in this series are plants that propagate well from cuttings, are a smaller rootstock, and are early bearing and disease resistant," said Carlson. "A top priority is that the trees be free standing."

The new series will range in sizes from the MAC-8 up to two-thirds standard size trees.

Carlson has planted test plots on exposed sites to check the wind resistance of the MAC series. The major propagation of trees on the new rootstock will be done by the Oregon Rootstock Company. Dr. Carlson said that west coast conditions and the company's familiarity with dwarf rootstocks provide a greater opportunity for early clone development. Some of the new stock is expected to be tested soon under local conditions at Hill-top nurseries in Hartford.

"We are interested in the hardiness of the trees in mid-west regions," Dr. Carlson stated, "but at this stage of the development the program will move more smoothly out of west coast nurseries."

Carlson is now testing Jonathan and Delicious varieties on the MAC-9 series. They are expected to be available to growers in two to three years.

Polish Studies Aid Ultra-Low Spraying

Advancements in the research of ultra-low-volume (ULV) sprayers could greatly change the spraying habits of much of the fruit industry, according to the U.S. department of Agriculture.

The Agricultural Research Service of USDA says that research it has sponsored in Poland has improved the techniques and efficiency of the low volume system. Polish scientists have shown that apple orchards can be protected against bacteria and fungi with as little as 0.7 gallon of spray per acre. That, in turn, means that lighter, cheaper machines can handle the spraying chore. Many of the sprayers in common use 10 years ago applied as much as 400 gallons of spray per acre. Modern sprayers use 20 to 40 gallons of a more concentrated spray and use less chemical pesticide per acre than older models.

The advancement to ULV sprayers holds a number of advantages over conventional spray methods, according to research scientists. The ULV machine is comparatively smaller and less expensive than machines now used, and can be pulled by lightweight 15-18 hp tractors instead of 50-60 hp machines. Chemicals can also be premixed at the factory and stored in 5-gallon containers.

Cherry Fly Spray Date Is Early

Cherry fruit fly emergence has occurred in southwestern Michigan and farmers should begin applying pesticides as soon as possible, according to Mike Thomas, southwestern Michigan district horticulture agent.

Pesticides should be applied by June 2 in the south end of the district and by June 9 in the Fennville area. Recommended chemicals are Guthion, Diazinon Imidan, Zolone, and Parathion.

Thomas said that fruit fly emergence is at an early date this year because of early tree development.

Thomas also says that spraying should begin for brown rot in order to avoid a repeat of the 1975 infection. A continuous coverage with fungicide is essential for protection, according to Thomas.

Spraying for lesser peach tree bore in tart cherries and early peaches should be done by June 4. Thomas recommends a thorough drenching of trunks and scaffold limbs with Thiodan for proper control.

Thomas says that with a continuation of the hot weather farmers can look for a short strawberry season and an early cherry harvest.

Crop Reporter Ending Career

Charles A. Hines will be honored for nearly 34 years of government service with a retirement banquet June 3, at Long's banquet and convention center, 6810 South Cedar St., Lansing.

Hines has served as statistician in charge of the Michigan crop reporting service since coming to the state in 1963. He is credited with many contributions toward the improvement of agricultural data and the creation of new state programs.

BH Market Fees Hiked; Gate Surcharge Is Added

New rates at the Benton Harbor Fruit Market will increase most grower and buyer fees by about 30 per cent, according to Al Braudo, market manager.

This year's fee system will be based on package size rather than commodity in an effort to increase market revenue and improve movement and trading of produce. Braudo said that while the new system will mean increased fees for most growers, many prices stayed the same and a few will decrease.

In addition to per package fees, each grower will pay a 50 cent surcharge. The old 50-cent minimum entrance requirement has been removed.

Fees for packages will be: bushels, 5 cents; 1/2 bushels, 3 cents; 16 quart crates, 6 cents; 12 quart jumbo, 2 cents; 12 pint flats, 5 cents; 8 quart flats, 4 cents; 8 quart cartons 1 cent.

Crab apples, grapes, dills and pickles will be charged 4 cents per 1/2 bushel. 12 quart jumbo cartons of squash will be 3 cents.

Other package sizes and prices are: 50 pound (cabbage), 5 cents; bag (carrots), 3 cents; crate (cauliflower), 3 cents; crate (celery), 4 cents; case (cider or cherry mix), 4 cents; dozen (Indian and sweet corn), 1 cent; crate (Indian corn), 5 cents; bunch (dill), 2 cents; 50 pound tin (gladioli), 5 cents.

Grapes in 4 quart baskets are 1 cent, 8-2 quart crate, 6 cents, and boxes, 6 cents.

Case (lettuce), 3 cents; 50 pound bag (peas), 25 cents; 10 pound bag (onions), 2 cents; 50 pound bag (onions), 5 cents; pot (plants), 2 cents; pot (trees), 3 cents; ton (pumpkins), 25 cents; cases (rhubarb and sorghum), 8 cents.

Peaches in 3/4 bushel containers will be charged 4 cents. Potato fees are: 10 pound bag, 1 cent; 20 pound bag, 2 cents; 50 pound bag, 3 cents; 100 pound bag, 5 cents.

Tonatoes in 8-2 quart crates are 5 cents; 20 pound cartons, 2 cents; 40 pound cartons, 4 cents; flats, 3 cents; 50 pounds, 6 cents.

Stall rentals for season buyers will increase by $50, with prices ranging from $300 to $550. Total fees for day buyers will be: pickup, $5; 1-ton truck, $7.50; 1 1/2-ton truck, $10; 10 wheeler, $12.50; semi truck, $15.

BEANS ABOARD

The marketing year ended last August wasn't a good one for U.S. exporters of dry edible beans and peas. Shipments of dry edible beans, at 125,000 metric tons, proved the lowest since 1967 and made up only 53% of the 1974/75 record. Algeria was the biggest buyer, followed by West Germany, Venezuela, Greece, Italy, Columbia, and Spain.

Soil Districts Will Bring Kotyuk Back

Frank Kotyuk, well known to area farmers for his 31 years of service with the St. Joseph and Galien River conservation districts, will come out of retirement to again help solve local conservation problems.

The announcement was made by Adolph Dongvillo, chairman of the board of directors of the St. Joseph River soil conservation district. Dongvillo said that Kotyuk will work part-time with new district conservationist Les Hainey in an effort to increase conservation practices on land and also to familiarize Hainey with the area.

Kotyuk, 57, retired last year as technician for both St. Joseph and Galien River districts. His work in designing farm ponds, needed for irrigation and frost protection, helped set current standards in the Soil Conservation Service. Dongvillo said that Kotyuk is noted for his ability to work with farmers to improve conservation practices.

"We hope to put a special emphasis on soil erosion control, waterways and diversions," Dongvillo said discussing Kotyuk's duties. "There are standards that have to be met and the effort has to be put forth either now or later."

FRANK KOTYUK

Dongvillo said that Environmental Protection Agency standards require that the rivers be "fishable and swimmable" by 1983.

Plug Mix Seed Planting Gains

Berrien county vegetable growers are finding plug mix planting a good way to cut costs and increase production, according to Jim Neibauer, county extension vegetable agent.

The plug mix planting method utilizes a machine which prepares and plants a mixture of seed, peat moss, and fertilizer equaling about one quarter cup for each plant.

The direct seeding method eliminates much of the expense involved in growing transplants in greenhouses and then setting them in the field, says Neibauer. For cucumbers, two men lay strips of plastic in the field and one man operating the planter over the plastic can do all of the seeding. Plastic strips are not necessary for tomato planting.

"Right now plug mixing is done mostly for cucumbers," Neibauer said. "Replacing labor is the biggest advantage for the grower. Normally we would expect the cucumber harvest to be a week later when plug planting is used, and you might miss the higher prices of the early market. For the last two years and probably this year, however, plug mix harvest has been the same as transplants."

Neibauer says that plug mix planting is a great benefit to growers of processing tomatoes also. The greatest yields have come from fields with 15-18,000 plants per acre. For most growers, Neibauer said, it is uneconomical to use more than 6 or 7,000 per acre with transplants.

"The disadvantage for tomatoes is that they usually cannot be harvested until the end of August with plug mix planting," Neibauer stated. "It is most profitable when a farmer uses plug planting for a portion of his crop and plants the rest for fresh harvest."

Neibauer said that direct seeding had been tried before in Berrien county but was not as successful as the new method. Seeds were often unable to break through the ground after it had been hardened by rain. The machine used for planting now combines seed with a peat mix assuring more fertile conditions.

Another problem to be overcome in plug mix planting is weed control, Neibauer says.

"We don't yet have the chemicals we would like for seed planting," said Neibauer. "The chemicals used now require good soil moisture to be effective which you can't always assure." Neibauer says he expects plug mix planting to increase in the area. He estimates about 15 per cent of the tomato and cucumber crop is now planted by seed, and he anticipates more use of plug mixing for muskmelon planting.

KENTUCKY'S TOBACCO
Tobacco, Kentucky's chief crop, brings farmers about $1.15 a pound when some half a billion pounds are sold at 219 warehouse auctions between November and February.

Man Asks Hearing On 2 Charges

Leander Lewis, 57, of 1118 Broadway, Benton Harbor, demanded preliminary examinations on two felony charges at his arraignment in Berrien District court yesterday.

Accused of assault with a deadly weapon — a pistol — against Mary Lewis and carrying a concealed pistol in a car, he was jailed in lieu of bonds totaling $20,000. The alleged incidents occurred Wednesday in Benton Harbor.

Others demanding examinations were:

Jeffery C. Dase, 20, of 1014 1/2 Church street, St. Joseph, accused by St. Joseph police of resisting arrest Thursday after a traffic accident. Bond of $2,300 wasn't posted.

Leon Redman, Jr., 34, of Markham, Ill., charged with carrying a concealed pistol in Lincoln township May 26. Bail of $1,000 was not posted.

Steve L. Wynn, 18, of 793 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking into a house in Benton Harbor May 25. He was jailed in lieu of $2,000 bail.

Sentenced were: Douglas A. Hale, 19, and Thomas R. Lawson, 20, both of Michigan City, Ind., each fine and costs of $100 and six months probation for use of marijuana in Michiana May 26.

Michael W. Davis, 19, of La Porte, Ind., $152 for impaired driving in New Buffalo May 26.

Kenneth D. Schultz, 19, of Howell, three days in jail and $65 or 30 days in jail total for driving while license suspended in New Buffalo township May 26.

Ford Plans To Settle With Owners

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is planning to make restitution to owners of Ford automobiles with defective engines, the Wisconsin attorney general's office says.

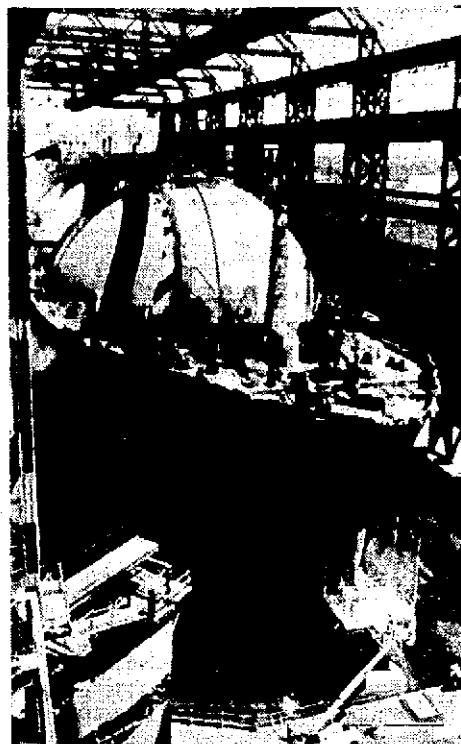

Representatives of the attorney general's office said after a meeting with Ford officials that they expect to have the plan by next week, but do not know what it will include.

Repair bills have averaged from $150 to $450 for damage to cylinder walls because of inadequate lubrication, owners said. One of their principal complaints has been that Ford refused to cover the full cost of repairs after the engine warranties expired.

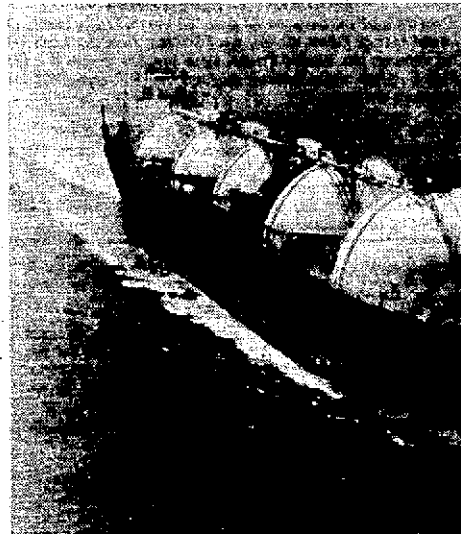

Mechanics have said elimination of a small oil squirt hole caused the problem. Ford has put the hole back in its four cylinder engines and is restoring it in six cylinder models next year.

State GOP Chief Staying

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Jerry Roe, the executive director of the Michigan Republican Party, has decided not to take the chairmanship of the Minnesota GOP. Roe, often the key man behind the scenes in Michigan Republican activities, said he did not want to leave the state before the 1978 election. "I just have so many interests and ties to Michigan," he said. "I felt I wanted to stay here through the campaign."

Silver Mill Leases S. Carolina Plant

Silver Mill Frozen Foods, Inc., with fruit processing plants at Eau Claire and Hart, has leased an apple and peach processing plant at Inman, South Carolina, according to Henry Prillwitz of Hart, Silver Mill president.

He also reported that negotiations are nearing completion for Silver Mill to take over the operation of another fruit processing plant near Salt Lake City, Utah. He said it was expected the deal would be completed in time to pack tart cherries at the Utah plant this season.

Silver Mill, which moved its corporate headquarters from Eau Claire to Hart several years ago, has leased the South Carolina plant near Spartanburg from Carolina Gro-Shares Cooperative, Inc. Prillwitz described Carolina Gro-Shares as a marketing cooperative closely associated with Silver Mill.

Baroda Man Faces Fourth Drug Count

A Baroda man, charged as a drug dealer in three earlier counts, was arraigned in Berrien District court Thursday on a fourth charge.

Alvin L. McCarver, 35, of 1610 Lemon Creek road, Baroda, demanded examination yesterday on the fourth charge, possession of three ounces of PCP with intent to deliver.

McCarver, described by the commander of the Berrien Metro Narcotics squad, Lt. Jack Drach, as the "biggest known drug dealer" in Berrien county at this time, was arrested by the narcotics squad at his home on May 17. He was one of 36 people arrested in a widespread roundup of people charged with dealing illegally in drugs.

The fourth felony charge against McCarver involved three ounces of PCP arresting officers alleged they found in McCarver's possession when they made the May 17 arrest.

McCarver was first arrested on two charges of delivery of PCP, and a squabble developed between Berrien Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell and District Judge Leo K. Cook when the judge set bond at $5,000 each on the two charges. The Baroda man posted bond then and was freed. Jewell protested the bail was too low.

The next day, McCarver was arraigned on a third charge of PCP delivery, and bond was boosted on that count to $25,000.

McCarver was unable to meet the $25,000 bail figure and was remanded to jail. He was brought from his cell in the county jail yesterday for arraignment on the fourth charge. Bail on yesterday's charge was hiked to $50,000, and he is now in jail in lieu of a total of $85,000 in bail.

McCarver has demanded examination on each of the four charges.

Also in court yesterday six other people arrested in the Metro squad raid were bound over to Circuit court on drug delivery charges. All of their bonds were continued, and they were freed after their hearings. They were:

Debbie Collins, 23, and William A. Newton, 27, both of the Ravine Trailer park, Benton township, charged with delivery of amphetamines.

Terry L. Smith, 19, of Harbert road, Harbert, charged with delivery of PCP. He waived examination.

Neil G. Dillenbeck, 21, of 1801 Sycamore street, Niles, charged with delivery of PCP. He waived examination.

Kevin Myers, 20, of 803 Regent street, Niles, on charges of delivery of PCP and delivery of marijuana.

Jeffrey Paul Gipson (also known as Palumbo Jasper), 18, of 2985 Detroit road, Niles, charged with delivery of marijuana.

Gobles Man Demands Hearing

PAWPAW — Ross Worcester, 47, 505 East Van Buren street, Gobles, demanded a preliminary examination in Seventh District court here Thursday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Gobles police said the charge was filed after an investigation found that articles reported stolen had been sold and insurance money collected at the same time.

Police said Worcester reported a lawn tractor, rototiller lawnmower, trailer and go-kart stolen from his home in December, 1975. The articles were valued at over $1,700.

According to police, several articles were purchased by Gobles residents.

Worcester was released on his own recognizance pending a June 7 hearing.
